MARSHALL WARNS OF EXTRA SESSION

In Special Message Governor Insists Appropriation Bills Must be Brought Within Means

SEEMS TO HINT AT VETO OF THE BILLS

Indianapolis, March 5.—Governor Marshall in a special message to the legislature this morning again called attention to the condition of the state's finances and urged that the general appropriation bill passed by the house last night should be amended to reduce the total appropriation $100,000.

"You will pardon me," says the governor in his message, "if I again sharply call your attention to the condition of the state's finances. I do it for the reason that I do not choose to be held responsible and have it afterwards said that the governor did not advise the legislature as to the true condition of affairs."

Governor Marshall then referred to the statement of the deputy auditor of state, furnished the legislature, in which it was shown that the auditor had presumed a possible increase in taxes of 5 per cent, amounting to $392,788.

Counting Before Hatching.

"In my judgment this is counting your chickens before they are hatched," says the governor. "Granting this estimate is fairly correct you will observe that you still have a deficit of $85,000 if the appropriation as it came from the committee is passed. This does not take into account excess population maintenance for the various institutions."

The governor then lists some of the calls which he says are certain to be made upon the state this year and adds:

"Granting that taxes may increase the bill as originally reported is $643,000 too high.

Says Original Bill Is Unsafe.

"I speak frankly when I say that I believe it is wholly unsafe to pass the original appropriation bill without cutting $700,000 out of it unless you want to pass a bill for increased taxation. The people of Indiana will not look, in my judgment, with any favor upon a special session of the legislature."

In a message a few days ago he notified the legislature that his office would be open for bills until midnight tonight and that after that time he would be under no obligations to return measures with his veto or approval.

SOMETHING TO START WITH

ROOSEVELT SAILS MARCH 23 FOR AFRICA

First Announcement of the Time is Made—Theodore Takes a Walk.

Oyster Bay, N. Y., March 5.—Ex-President Roosevelt announced today for the first time that he would sail from New York for Africa on March 23rd, at noon. He will take passage on the steamer Hamburg.

Mr. Roosevelt said also that he had received so many letters, telegrams and cablegrams that it would be physically impossible for him to answer one-tenth of them and that while he appreciated the sentiments expressed in the various communications and would like to answer them, it would be impossible to do so. He added that he would have nothing to say on any subject nor would he attend any public functions before departing on his hunting trip. Except for a few trips to New York city Mr. Roosevelt said he would spend the time at Oyster Bay.

MAKING FINAL PREPARATIONS.

Washington, March 5.—Final preparations are now being made at the Smithsonian institute for the scientific expedition to Africa to be headed by Theodore Roosevelt. The work of preparing and making the collecting apparatus is now well advanced, having been carefully superintended by Major Edgar A. Mearns, the man who is to manage the expedition for the Smithsonian institution.

J. Alden Loring and Edmund Heller, the two other naturalists of the expedition, have been in Washington several weeks assisting Major Mearns with the final preparations.

Mr. Roosevelt will go over the plans thoroughly after he reaches Oyster Bay and will confer there with the three naturalists, which are being sent by the Smithsonian institution. On the voyage to Africa the details of the different phases of the expedition will be worked out by Mr. Roosevelt and the other members of the expedition so that on April 21st, when they land from the steamer Admiral at Mombassa, they will be ready to strike out for the work before them with a clear idea of what will be done.

HAVE CONSOLIDATED.

Allen and Wayne Lodges, Degree of Honor, Are Now One.

Allen lodge, No. 29, and Wayne lodge, No. 23, Degree of Honor, were consolidated at a meeting in the Aldine hall last night. The name Allen lodge will be retained and the officers of that lodge will continue to serve the time for which they were elected. Allen lodge had 250 members and Wayne lodge 39. The order will hold meetings every other Thursday evening, as heretofore.

MARSHALL COUNTY REVERSAL OF FORM

Goes Dry After Electing a Wet Member of the Legislature.

Plymouth, Ind., March 5.—By a majority of 1,091, according to complete returns, Marshall county has voted to oust her thirteen saloons and to remain "dry" for a period of at least two years.

For a time last evening the result was in doubt, and the temperance forces had a shock when it began to look like their vote was to be reduced to a very small margin, if not wiped away entirely. The result was a great relief when the vote was made known.

Marshall county a few weeks ago went democratic when a campaign was on to elect a representative to the legislature, the issue at that time being the repeal of the option law. Dr. Wise, the democrat and repealer, carried the county, and on the basis of this it had been predicted by many that the county would vote against local option today.

The figures came in slowly last night and it was late before even a small number of the thirty-three precincts began to report. The first four precincts showed a "dry" majority of 237 and the anti-saloon people began to say "I told you," but the next four precincts caused consternation when it was found these four had given a "wet" majority of 158 votes. This reduced the "dry" lead in one-fourth of the precincts to the small margin of seventy-nine.

Election day was a typical March day, with a sharp west wind and cold weather. It was not the best day for the "drys." The election has been the chief theme of conversation and of speculation and interest was manifest on all sides and a large vote was polled. The "wets" were out early this morning and had all their men in at the polls. "Wet" voters resident in other towns were brought home to vote and every vote available was sought by the antis. The "dry" forces were on the move all day and polled a large vote. Order and good behavior prevailed all over the city and no reports of disorder, trouble or frauds have been received from the townships. About 80 per cent of the normal vote was polled.

SUBJECT TO DELAY.

Manager O. L. Perry, of the Western Union, has been directed to accept messages for Baltimore, Washington and Atlantic coast points between New York and Charleston, S. C., subject to delay on account of the storm which swept over the east Thursday morning.

TAFT'S CABINET WAS CONFIRMED

No Objection Was Made to Confirmation of Philander C. Knox.

TILLMAN RELATED THE CIRCUMSTANCES

President Also Sends in Loeb's Appointment to Nice Fat Job.

Washington, March 5.—All the cabinet officers were confirmed by the senate today.

As soon as the doors of the senate were closed the president's nominations were laid before the senate and Mr. Tillman called attention to the facts relating to Senator Knox. He stated, however, that he had no objection to Mr. Knox's confirmation and as no opposition was voiced from any other direction, he was immediately confirmed. The senate then took a recess of fifteen minutes to permit the various committees to which the other cabinet nominations were referred, to consider and report upon them. The usual exception was made in Senator Knox's case out of courtesy to him as a member of the body.

Mr. Taft's Nominations.

The following nominations were today sent to the senate by President Taft:

Philander C. Knox, of Pennsylvania, to be secretary of state.

Franklin MacVeagh, of Illinois, to be secretary of the treasury.

Jacob M. Dickinson, of Tennessee, to be secretary of war.

George W. Wickersham, New York, to be attorney general.

Frank H. Hitchcock, of Massachusetts, to be postmaster general.

George V. L. Meyer, of Massachusetts, to be secretary of navy.

Richard A. Ballinger, of Washington, to be secretary of interior.

William Loeb, jr., of New York, collector of customs for the district of New York.

Mr. Sherman Presides.

Promptly at noon Vice President Sherman called the senate to order and after Chaplain Hale had delivered an impressive invocation the roll was called and a committee appointed to call upon the president and notify him that the senate was organized and ready for business.

The session attracted a large gathering in the galleries and throughout the brief proceedings much interest was centered upon the new senators who were in the places assigned to them for the first time. The "Cherokee strip" as a part of the democratic side on the extreme right hand of the vice president is known, was rendered interesting by the location there of Senator Root among the new sena-

DISTRICT ATTORNEY KEALING RESIGNS

Big Chief Refuses to Prosecute Indianapolis Journalists.

CHARLES W. MILLER TO BE SUCCESSOR

Kealing Does Not Agree With the Attitude of the Government.

Washington, March 5.—United States District Attorney Kealing, at Indianapolis, has resigned rather than participate in the efforts of the department of justice to bring Delavan Smith and Joseph Pulitzer to Washington to stand trial for criminal libel in connection with publications concerning the Panama canal.

Mr. Kealing has held the office of United States district attorney for nearly eight years and his standing with the department of justice is said to be high. In connection with the Elkhart bank case, Mr. Kealing prosecuted and convicted all the officers of that institution, including Walter Brown, who was his close personal friend, and a member of the republican state committee.

MR. KEALING'S LETTER.

Indianapolis, March 5.—United States Attorney Joseph B. Kealing, who has resigned his office rather than participate in the prosecution against Delavan Smith and Charles R. Williams, of the Indianapolis News, would make no statement today regarding the matter, other than that contained in his letter of resignation to the attorney general. In that he says:

"Indianapolis, March 2, 1909.—To the Attorney General, Washington, D. C.—Sir: I beg to inform you that I have today sent my formal resignation as United States attorney for the district of Indiana, to the president of the United States, with the request that the same be accepted not later than March 15th, 1909. I am informed that the indictments have been returned by the grand jury of the District of Columbia against Delavan Smith and Charles R. Williams, proprietors of the Indianapolis News, for criminal libel, and that steps will be taken to remove them to that district for trial. As both are in this district, under the law it will become my official duty to assist in such removal proceedings.

Did Duty Without Fear or Favor.

"For almost eight years I have had the honor of representing the government as United States attorney. During that time I have prosecuted all alike, without fear or favor, where I had an honest belief in their guilt.

THE WEATHER.

Chicago, March 5.—Forecast for Indiana: Threatening with probably rain late tonight or Saturday; rising temperature.

For Illinois: Threatening weather tonight and Saturday with probably rain; warmer tonight.

For Lower Michigan: Threatening weather with rain or snow late tonight or Saturday; rising temperature.

TAFT IN NEW SEAT EARLY IN THE DAY

President Gets Busy in the Executive Offices and Sees Callers.

SECRETARY KNOX WAS AMONG FIRST

Bunch of Senators, Including Beveridge, Visited the President.

Washington, March 5.—William H. Taft took his place at his desk in the executive office as president of the United States at precisely 9:30 o'clock this morning. Just as he entered the office from the residence portion of the white house Philander C. Knox came in from his home. The nomination of Mr. Knox as secretary of state, of the entire cabinet of President Taft, of Frederick W. Carpenter to be secretary to the president, of William J. Loeb to be collector of the port of New York, were transmitted to the senate today by the president.

The names of Huntington Wilson, to be assistant secretary of state, and Beekman Winthrop, to be assistant secretary of the navy, also were sent to the senate by the president.

President Sees Senators.

Senator Knox remained with President Taft for a quarter of an hour. During his stay these callers arrived and were ushered into the cabinet room to await their turn to see the new president:

Senators Kean, New Jersey; Cullom, Illinois; Beveridge, Indiana; Wetmore, Rhode Island; Root and Depew, New York, and Surgeon General Rixey, of the navy.

Mr. Taft also was called upon and accepted an invitation from Governors Hughes, of New York; Prouty, of Vermont; Senator Dillingham and Congressmen Page and Foster, of Vermont, to attend the celebration of the discovery of Lake Champlain, to be held at Plattsburg, N. Y., and Burlington, Vermont, July 7th and 8th respectively. Secretary Root is to deliver the principal address at the Plattsburg meeting.

Tariff Message to Be Short.

All the republican members of the house committee on ways and means saw President Taft today and were informed by him that his special message to congress on the tariff would be very brief and would be confined exclusively to that subject and would make no suggestion in detail as to the character of the revision to be had. President Taft said he should reiterate in the message what he said yesterday on the tariff in his inaugural address.

There was no discussion between the members and Mr. Taft as to the nature of the intended revision. It is the opinion of members of the committee that the work can be finished before June first. The one point Mr. Taft will urge in his message is that nothing but tariff legislation be considered at the special session.

Parade for President.

The Seventh infantry, of New York, 800 strong, today paraded before President Taft and Governor Hughes, who occupied the reviewing stand in front of the white house, erected for the inauguration. The Seventh, after hav-

LEGISLATURE HAS FEVER FOR WORK

Slap Dash and Fizz Bang to Get Business Done by Midnight.

HOUSE IS URGING ITS BILLS ALONG

Senate Takes Appropriation and Undertakes to Use the Paring Knife.

Indianapolis, March 5.—Both houses worked with feverish haste this morning. The representatives urged that their bills be placed on passage in the house, although they admitted there was but slight chance of the measures coming before the senate this late in the session.

The senate disposed of house bills.

Democrats of the house attempted to correct a mistake made early in the session when they passed two bills vetoed by Governor Hanly.

Among other bills passed by the senate this morning are those making it unlawful for railroad companies to operate engines which are not equipped with ashpans, by Senator Proctor, and requiring all railroad trains to be equipped with emergency surgical cases, by Representative Hay.

Governor Signs Bills.

Governor Marshall today reported to the senate the signing of the Beal bill, which provides for the election of school boards by the people in Terre Haute.

The governor signed twenty other senate bills, among which were:

The Beal bill, for better safety appliances on switch engines; the McCullough bill, for the preservation of election ballots for sixty days; the bill giving the general assembly members the powers of notaries public; the Springer bill, providing that banks bidding for funds as public depositories shall give bond only in the sum of half the money bid for, and the McDowell bill, to permit Vincennes to issue sewer bonds.

Senate Trying to Cut.

Upon motion of Senator Mattingly the senate at 2 o'clock this afternoon resolved itself into a committee of the whole for consideration of the general appropriation bill. Senator Clark moved to strike out the $40,000 additional maintenance for Indiana university.

Senator Wood believing such a cut of the Indiana appropriation would result in a similar cut as to Purdue university, spoke against it. The motion was lost.

Kistler moved to strike out all the appropriations for Indiana university but the motion was lost.

POPE NOT SO WELL.

Rome, March 5.—The pope, who is suffering from a cold, is a little worse today. He was obliged to remain in bed this morning, and was not able to attend the Lenten sermon delivered before the sacred college.

Ardmore, Okla., March 5.—Judge Hosea Townsend, United States judge for the southern district of Indian Territory up to the time Oklahoma became a state, died here yesterday aged sixty-nine years.

STOUT TELLS OF CHICKEN SUPPER

Convicted Man Says He Knows Nothing of the Croy Murder.

DEFENSE OFFERS SOME NEW PROOF

Baker's Attorneys Have Put Physicians on Witness Stand.

[Sentinel Correspondence.]

Huntington, Ind., March 5.—The trial of John Baker for the murder of Marshal Columbus Croy, at Woodburn, was resumed in the circuit court here this morning after a recess of two days taken on account of the death of Mrs. Isabella Robinson, mother of Hon. J. M. Robinson, who is assisting in the prosecution and the defense introduced the only new departure in the case by an attempt to show that a man wounded in the manner that the marshal was would have fallen dead in his tracks and would have been unable to move after the bullet had pierced his heart.

Croy was standing at the corner of the building occupied by William Wearly as a butcher shop when he was shot and the body was found some distance away in front of a printing office. The defense showed in former trials that there was a trail of blood leading from the point at which the wound was received to the place where the body lay when it was found. In the other cases Judge R. K. Erwin, for the defense, attempted to prove that Croy's own gun might have inflicted the death wound but it failed with the juries.

Drs. Chaffee and Schafer, of this city, and Dr. Koontz, of Roanoke, were put on the stand in support of the theory of the defense and on cross examination the state brought out that there have been instances where men shot through the heart have traveled further than Croy did.

John Stout, serving a life term at Michigan City, was called after the physicians had been disposed of and related his story of the events preceding the murder. His evidence was substanially the same as it was when he gave it in an effort to clear himself of the charge. It was to the effect that the night before the murder he was in Ben Thomas' saloon with Fred LaDuke, "Dummy" Kerns and Baken when the latter secured a chicken which was cooked and eaten by the party.

While LaDuke was preparing the chicken he went out to get his coat and lay down on the bed in his room to read and fell asleep. When he woke up and returned to the saloon the chicken had been eaten and he got none. He says that afterward he remained with LaDuke in the saloon and that the two with Kerns went back to Stout's room and slept three in a bed.

He heard of the murder next morning when the proprietor of the saloon over which he had his room woke him and told him about it. Stout was in prison garb when he took the stand and had lost none of the confidence with which he told the story the first time. He denied ever having owned a gun or had one in his possession of the same calibre that was used in the murder of the marshal. In his cross examination contradictory statements made before the two grand jury sessions at which he testified were shown by the state and it was brought out that he had had a family of children some of whom had become public charges while others had been cared for by relatives.

The defense announced that Miller

SALOON LICENSE IS PRIVILEGE; NOT A RIGHT

Judge O'Rourke Places the Mayor's Power Beyond Question.

In his ruling on Harry Gilbert's action asking a mandate to compel the mayor to grant him an appeal from the action revoking his saloon license, Judge O'Rourke says the license is a personal privilege and that no absolute right is conferred upon the grantee. He holds there is no appeal and another powerful weapon is furnished against saloon men who persists in violating the law. The opinion is as follows:

This is an action brought by the State of Indiana on the relation of Harry Gilbert, versus William J. Hosey, as mayor of the city of Fort Wayne, Indiana, asking that an alternative writ of mandate be issued against the mayor to compel him to grant an appeal as prayed for by the relator from the decision of the mayor revoking the license to the relator allowing him to sell intoxicating liquors at retail, and to fix the amount of the appeal bond, and transmit the papers filed before him, with a full, true and complete transcript of all the proceedings had before him, in said cause, to the clerk of this court, or show cause at a time to be fixed by the court why he should not do so. The said William J. Hosey as mayor has filed a demurrer to the complaint.

The court sustains the demurrer to the complaint of the relator on the ground that there is no statute which gives any right of appeal in this kind of a case. A city license authorizing a person to retail spirituous and intoxicating liquors does not create any contract between him and the city. The law authorizes the issuance of the license bears no resemblance to an act of the legislature which confers certain rights and privileges in consideration of a supposed benefit to the public by reason of capital invested, and where skill and energy are employed. The statute regulating licensed saloons is quite different in purpose. It is intended to regulate, restrain and prohibit the sale of intoxicating liquors which is deemed injurious to the welfare of the community, especially when the privilege is exercised, or license granted without discrimination. The effect of the license is merely to permit the person to carry on his business as a saloon keeper under certain restrictions, and freed from liability to be prosecuted for sales which he would otherwise be subject to but for his license. The sum paid for it is merely for the purpose of exercising the privileges that are granted by the license. An absolute right is not conferred by the license; a personal privilege is all that is granted. There is an agreement, either express or implied, that it should be irrevocable, on the contrary, it is manifest that the law authorizing a license to sell intoxicating liquors, it is said, it is liken to a law authorizing theatrical exhibitions and shows, sales of fireworks, and other similar enactments, which are authorized as police regulations, intended to regulate trade, prevent injurious practices, and to promote the welfare and good order of the community, and liable to be modified and repealed, when in the judgment of the legislature, it fails to accomplish these objects.

Therefore there is no reason under our statutes which authorize a license to be issued for the purpose of selling intoxicating liquors, to prevent the authority which issued the license from revoking the same whenever the conditions on which the license is issued have been violated. On the contrary, the statute provides that whenever the licensee has violated any of the conditions on which the license was granted, that the mayor has the power after three days' notice given to the licensee, and on hearing evidence as to the question of whether or not the licensee has violated the law, and the mayor finds that he has violated the law by selling intoxicating liquors on prohibited days and times, or to persons forbidden by the statute, or has kept a disorderly saloon, the mayor has the power to suspend and revoke his license."

Want Support for Child.

Elsie M. Goheen, who was divorced from Elmer M. Cook in December and had her maiden name restored, has filed in the superior court a petition asking that her former husband be required to pay $10 a month for the support of their child. The little one was born in February of this year, about six weeks after the granting of the decree.

Court Notes.

The county commissioners have set aside as a rest room the one now occupied by the township assessor, but it can not be furnished until the county council meets to change the appropriation which was made for the room now in use by the coroner.

The divorce suit of Daisy Ferguson against Charles Ferguson, has been dismissed in the circuit court.

Jennie Perry has filed a suit for divorce against Clifton Perry, alleging that he deserted her in February, 1906. They were married in 1902. W. C. Ryan is her attorney.

The divorce suit of William S. Sauerman against Cora L. Sauerman has been dismissed in the superior court.

tors. It is in this portion of the senate that are located the "Insurgents," the new republican senators who are not altogether pleased with their committee assignments, and who are inclined in retaliation at times to revolt from the policies of the majority.

After the roll call had been completed, a resolution was adopted and Senators Gallinger and Culberson were appointed a committee to wait upon the president.

Ed M. Wilson has returned from a short business visit in Indianapolis.

"I have been compelled on several occasions to prosecute personal friends, but in each case I only did so after a thorough investigation had convinced me of their guilt.

"In this case, I have made a careful investigation of the law applicable thereto. As to the guilt or innocence of the defendants on the question of libel I do not attempt to say. If guilty, they should be prosecuted, but properly indicted and prosecuted in the right place, viz.: at their homes. It is only with the question of removal that I have to do.

Not in Accord With Government.

"I am not in accord with the government in its attempt to put a strained construction on the law, to drag the defendants from their homes to the seat of government, to be tried and punished, while there is a good and sufficient law in this jurisdiction, in the state court. I believe the principle involved is a dangerous one, striking at the very foundation of government. I cannot, therefore, honestly and conscientiously insist to the court that such is the law, or that such construction should be put on it. Not being able to do this, I do not feel that I can, in justice to my office, continue to hold it, and decline to assist.

"In order, therefore, to relieve us both of any embarrassment I have tendered my resignation, and have asked that it be accepted not later than March 15, 1909. I have made it of this date in order that President-elect Taft—for whom I have the highest respect and admiration—may have time to name my successor. Respectfully,

"JOSEPH B. KEALING,
"U. S. Attorney."

C. W. Miller, of Goshen, Ind., who has twice been attorney general of Indiana, will be recommended by Senator Beveridge for United States attorney to succeed Mr. Kealing.

ing been on the road for over twelve hours, arrived here late in the afternoon yesterday to participate in the great pageant and as a special courtesy President Taft consented to review them today.

After President Taft had reviewed the Seventh New York regiment, he went direct to the cast room of the white house, where he received several large delegations, including the Blaine club of Cincinnati, and the New York county committee.

NOT CERTAIN OF OUTCOME.

Rev. Shirey Says Fight in Whitley Has Been One of the Hardest.

The fight being put up by the brewers and other liquor men incident to the county option election being held in Whitley county today is one of the hardest with which the Anti-Saloon league forces have had to contend in northern Indiana, according to Rev. N. C. Shirey, superintendent of the Fort Wayne district. Up to last evening Mr. Shirey was in the county, but will receive the returns here tonight. He further says that many upon whom the league workers counted early in the fight have turned their banners and this fact makes the result of the election rather uncertain, although it is belief that the "drys" will win out.

SEVEN NEGROES HANGED.

Baton Rouge, La., March 5.—The execution of seven negroes today follows the conviction of six of them for murder and one for criminal assault upon a member of his own race.

The annual inspection of the local battery B will be held here on the 12th of April, according to advices recently received. Preparations for the inspection have already been started.

ANTHRACITE MINERS MEET.

Soon to Hold a Conference With the Hard Coal Operators.

Wilkesbarre, Pa., March 5.—The anthracite district officers of the United Mine Workers of America are in session here today with Thomas L. Lewis, the national president, and about half of the forty national organizers now in the hard coal fields going over the demands and arranging to submit them to the operators.

Despite the denials made last night, Mr. Lewis admitted today that he had seen President Baer, of the Reading company, in Philadelphia yesterday, but he declined to say what was discussed at the conference.

After the meeting President Lewis said in answer to newspaper inquiries that he had only one thing to say and that was that there would be a conference between the operators and the miners' representatives, but did not care to say when or where it would take place.

WIN SUGAR SUIT.

New York, March 5.—A verdict awarding the United States government $134,116 damages in unpaid customs duties from the American Sugar Refining company was rendered today by a jury which heard charges of misweighing sugar importations.

Fred M. Stevens was able to be out today for the first time after spending three weeks in his home on West Wayne street suffering from a sprained knee.

SEPARATING EGGS.

(From the Boston Post.)

When separating eggs where the whites only are used, drop the yolk at once into a tumbler of cold water, otherwise you will lose it. The little membrane which holds or surrounds the yolk hardens quickly on exposure to the air. The yolk, if dropped in a cup or saucer, dries quickly and is lost. The water will keep the membrane soft and the yolk may be used for salad dressing as long as twenty-four hours later.

CALLS IN INTERIM STOCK.

Wayne Knitting Mills Now Substituting Regular Issue.

The Wayne Knitting mills is now calling in the $175,000 of interim stock issued last May when the capital stock of the company was increased and is issuing its regular stock in lieu thereof. The interim stock was issued as a temporary expedient from the fact that under the agreement it was not to participate in the dividend for the year ending May 1, 1908, but it will do so for the current year.

KING EDWARD LEAVES LONDON.

London, March 5.—King Edward left this city for Biarritz this morning. The special train on which he was traveling was delayed for half an hour at Bickley, about ten miles out of London, owing to interruption of traffic caused by a collision of two passenger trains at Tunbridge, in which two persons were killed. The special went on to Dover over another line.

FAIRBANKS STARTS FOR HOME.

Washington, March 5.—Former Vice President and Mrs. Fairbanks and their daughter, Mrs. Timmons, left for Indianapolis this afternoon. They will reach Indianapolis tomorrow at noon. Many friends called at their home this afternoon to say good bye.

PATRICK MAKES A PLEA.

New York, March 5.—Albert T. Patrick, who was convicted of the murder of William Marsh Rice, made a sensational appeal to the appellate division in Brooklyn today to free him from imprisonment for life or send him to the electric chair. He declared that imprisonment for life was a greater punishment than the death penalty.

CONFESSES SLAYING MOTHER.

Holland, Mich., March 5.—Elton Baldwin confessed today to the prosecuting attorney that he killed his aged mother, who was found dead yesterday in her farm house, two miles from Saugatuck. He said that he was afraid that she would charge him with having burned their barn and therefore killed her with a hatchet while she was asleep.

Harry Long, of the Long Carnival company, writes that the organization is having a flourishing season in the south. The company is now at New Orleans, where it showed at the mardi gras.

Peter Decker, aged resident of Decatur, is dead.

Slot machines have been ordered out of Bluffton.

New cases of smallpox continue to develop at Nappanee.

Miss Anna Bartol, of Warsaw, 59 years of age, died suddenly Thursday from heart failure.

Mrs. Milo Stookey, five miles northeast of Warsaw, dropped dead Wednesday evening while preparing supper.

Mrs. Margaret Good, pioneer resident of Warren, is dead. She was the mother of Dr. C. H. Good, prominent in politics.

Henry Paulus, prominent resident of Silver Lake, died Thursday after an extended illness. He was 64 years of age.

The home of Dr. Franklin Miles, of Elkhart, the millionaire medicine manufacturer, is to be made one of the handsomest mansions in the state.

The Columbia City Post has figured out that thirty-five widows reside in the western part of that city, within a few blocks of each other.

William Householder, under arrest at Huntington, has confessed that he robbed his brother, George Householder, a coal dealer, of $167.

Mrs. C. B. Jones, of Garrett, has indicated her intention of contributing $1,000 toward the erection of the Old Peoples' home for Methodists at Warren.

Mr. and Mrs. Paxton Bryarly, of Valparaiso, 75 and 74 years of age, have just celebrated their golden wedding anniversary, entertaining one hundred guests.

Opponents of saloon-closing have organized a "Liberty League" in Elkhart county to campaign for the "wet" side of the proposition in the coming local option election.

Thieves, thought to be local talent, robbed the depots of the Big Four railroad and the Winona electric line at Leesburg Wednesday night, but only a small sum was secured.

David VanHorn, 80 years of age, and said to be the oldest tramp on the road, spent the night Wednesday in the Bluffton jail. He formerly lived in Wabash county and was once wealthy.

Some telephone joker at Warsaw created a sensation by calling up livery stables and ordering a hearse, an ambulance and several hacks sent to the front of a prominent restaurant at 1 o'clock Friday morning. He will be arrested if his identity is discovered.

Mrs. Elizabeth Minger, of Vera Cruz, Wells county, came near burning to death in an effort to extinguish the flames which had caught in her home from an overheated stove. Neighbors dragged the woman, almost unconscious, from the house and succeeded in stopping the progress of the fire.

Theodore Melching, prominent Wells county farmer, has sold 100 acres of land for $10,500, and then presented each of his seven children with a check for $1,000. The children are Albert, Willis, of Ossian, Millard, Isaiah, Mrs. W. J. Dustman, Mrs. George Mock and Mrs. Magdalina Glock, of Fort Wayne.

Thursday at Huntington the right arm of George Ackerman, an Erie fireman, who lost the member in an accident at Marion, Ohio, was buried with the same funeral rites as if it were his body. A brother brought the amputated arm to Indiana. Ackerman's request was that it be given a regular burial. The arm was embalmed and placed in a position that the injured man said would not pain him.

Joking friends of Senator Proctor at Elkhart on Wednesday packed a trunk with clothing and temperance literature and sent it to him. When he went there to attend the legislative session Senator Proctor said he would stay in Indianapolis until the county option law was repealed. Sufficient clothing has therefore been sent him to tide him over until the next session of the legislature, two years hence.

Farmers near Goshen have started a movement to narrow the old state highway known as the Fort Wayne road. This road, which is sixty-six feet wide, was built by the military authorities in pioneer days to afford rapid travel between Fort Wayne, Ind., and Fort Dearborn, Chicago. The road is the popular route of automobilists traveling across the continent or crossing Indiana. The farmers say they cannot keep the road up, owing to the heavy traffic. The facts in the case are that the road has never been a good one in Elkhart county, too much sand being in the gravel used by the farmers. The consequences are that automobile travel has cut the road to its foundation.

Tailored Waists, Semi-Tailored Waists Lingerie Waists, Priced from 50c to $5.00

Foster's famous waists (made in Fort Wayne) need no detailed introduction. The fact that they are made in Fort Wayne, by Fort Wayne labor, is sufficient in itself to place them on the highest pinnacle of fame. But a few words regarding the showing of the present season will not be amiss.

Such perfect taste has been used in the designing of these waists that their desirability for spring and summer wear cannot be too strongly emphasized. The designs are stylish and practical, and the materials, trimmings and general air are those of custom-made goods costing twice the amount. The Foster waists are equaled by none.

Here Are a Few of the Popular Numbers We Are Showing:

At 50c Shepherd Plaid Waists, Navy Blue with Polka Dots, White with Black Hair Line Check.

At 98c White Lawn Waists with Embroidery trimming, open front; checked Waists, Tailor Made in Pink, Light Blue and Brown Checks; White and Black Check, Tailor Made with Black trimming; Navy Blue, Polka Dot Waists, Tailor Made, white trimming.

At $1.25 White Lawn Tailored Waists, with Black Stripe, trimmed with Grecian border; Fancy White Lawn Waists with Lace and Embroidery trimming; White Linnette Tailored Waists, Gibson effect.

At $1.50 All-over Embroidery Waists, Embroidered Waists with Lace Insertion, White Dimity Tailored Waists with plain Linen Collars and Cuffs; Natural Linen Tailored Waists.

At $1.98 White Lawn Waists with Embroidered Front, Fancy Long Sleeves; Fancy Waists with Rosebud and open work; Embroidered Fronts, Long Sleeves; Fancy Embroidered Waists, with Long Sleeves, Lace and Tucked trimmed.

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO

What the Sentinel Had to Say About Persons and Events Twenty-Five Years Ago.

Prof. John Maier has organized the Jeffersonian orchestra.

Samuel J. Keller has been commissioned by the president as postmaster at Bluffton.

It is now almost a settled fact that the Fredonia watch works will come to Fort Wayne.

Boxing gloves are now fashionable, and numerous pugilistic youths have black eyes and swollen heads.

Marriage licenses issued: William Hoffman and Mary Eliza Hamm; Edward D. Noble and Alice Burrell.

It is said that Charles H. Aldrich will be tendered the nomination for congress by the republicans of this district.

Messrs. Trentman and Dinnen have opened an office in connection with their paper store on East Columbia street.

The Masonic Temple finance committee has ordered the building committee to advertise for proposals to finish the temple.

Sheriff Will Schiefer will make a tour of the state the last of the week in the interest of his candidacy for treasurer of state.

Hon. Montgomery Hamilton has returned from his southern trip. Next Monday evening Mr. Hamilton will adddress the Jeffersonian club, of which he is president.

Next Tuesday evening the city council will select an engineer to succeed William Goshorn and a marshal to succeed Frank Falker. These elections will attract a big crowd.

M. N. Webber is an inveterate reader of newspapers, magazines and books. He is posted in literature and keeps an accurate run of the affairs of the world. Few men in Fort Wayne are better read.

The sacred order of sub-deacon will be conferred on D. J. Mulcahy at the Cathedral tomorrow morning by Rt. Rev. Bishop Dwenger. On Friday the young man will receive deaconship, and on Saturday will be ordained a priest.

Frank Falker is out on the road with Perry Zimmerman to learn the route and get acquainted with customers. Next week Mr. Falker resigns the office of marshal to go on the road permanently for A. C. Trentman.

PRESIDENT TAFT'S FIRST WORD.

President Taft's inaugural address sets out as first in importance among its utterances that the reform policies of Theodore Roosevelt are to be continued in force under the new administration. Mr. Taft says this in a fashion both firm and explicit. It gives much reassurance to the great body of the people. They were with Mr. Roosevelt on that line of administrative conduct; they will stand fast by Mr. Taft along the same line. "Big business" has nothing to fear, says the new president, in any legitimate pursuit. Great corporations and combines, industrial or railway, may go ahead with their plans and purposes to benefit business and there will be none to molest or make afraid; but erection of monopoly to rape the people there will be none.

Throughout Mr. Taft's address there is an undercurrent of purpose to bid business to take courage and renew confidence in the future. In such respect his message to the country ought to and beyond doubt will prove a ready stimulant. He has been much known since his nomination as the "business man's candidate," and business should feel in him, now that he is president, the same steady confidence it felt or at least professed to feel during the campaign. There is to be no interference with what is legitimate and progressive in business; there is to be no toleration of what is immoral, vicious and destructive of popular rights.

Other vital subjects touched upon in the address show that the new president has given most thoughtful consideration to them. He does not enlarge upon or add detail to anything that he did not discuss with great thoroughness in the campaign save in respect of the race problem in the south. This subject he treats most admirably and in a way that should enlist the best feeling of all intelligent classes, both white and black, in the south.

The thing, however, in Mr. Taft's first expression of his policies to the public that will appeal to the people is that there is to be no going backward; no scuttling on the reform policy; no making way for reactionaries.

CAN CLOSE SALOONS.

The Gilbert dive will not reopen. Judge O'Rourke rules that there is no appeal from the mandate of the mayor revoking the city license of that foul resort. It is a satisfaction to this newspaper to observe that so learned and impartial a jurist as Judge O'Rourke finds in the law specific support of a proposition long maintained in these columns, namely, that a liquor license is extended to the holder of it as a privilege from the law and possession of it not conferred on him as a right. The licensee, as Judge O'Rourke points out in his ruling, accepts the privilege and makes use of it under certain conditions minutely defined in the law. Violation of those conditions necessarily implies authority to annul the privilege and that is precisely what has been done in the Gilbert case. Mayor Hosey now has his authority thoroughly defined, and we may now expect to see not only other lawless saloons abolished, but a wide improvement in the tone of the business—a general compliance with the law.

All able journalists make good statesmen, but he is an uncommon variety of statesman who makes a good editor. Within the next few years we shall have light to know whether Theodore Roosevelt is all we have been wont to think him. In mere practice of taking his pen in hand he has had training enough to make good.

Much of the pity of it is that a good many of the fellows who would keep right on in congress talking mean about him, accompanied him into retirement.

"Ho! Who's afraid?" Predatory wealth, rich malefactors, undesirable citizens, the Ananias roster and unclassified others whom the shorter and uglier word may fit will soon enough raise a chorus not altogether a concord of sweet sounds.

Being a good lawyer himself, Governor Marshall has pretty good reason for the confidence with which he leaves the ultimate fate of the Sunday base ball act to the mercies of the Indiana supreme court.

"Knew there'd be a blizzard right up to the last tick of my clock," or words to that effect. Still there have been worse blizzards in Washington during the last seven years.

Farther apart and fewer become the oases in Indiana. Soon be a good day's camel journey between them and not many of us have camels.

Sixtieth congress has come to an end. A good many of the men who were in it will remember it for a good while.

Washington weather can usually be relied on to cut up nasty just when the whole country is interested in her best.

MEETING AT ANTHONY SOON.

Fort Wayne Life Men Want to Talk Over Anti-Rebate Law.

Some time during the early part of next week the members of the Northern Indiana Life Underwriters' association, most of whom are Fort Wayne life insurance men, will hold a quiet gathering at the Anthony hotel for the purpose of discussing and devising means to bring the anti-rebate law recently enacted by the general assembly to the attention of the public. The local men offered some very important suggestions in amending the bill presented by Representative Wells and had a big hand in pushing it through the legislature. Charles W. Orr is the president of the association and he will issue the definite call for the meeting within a day or so.

ELECTRIC TALKS

No. 47

Serious Trouble and a Quack Remedy

We asked some pointed questions in our last Talk. They will bear answering.

Those questions impleid a possible if not probable condition of things in Fort Wayne calling for an early determination as to whether the Public Welfare shall prevail in electric lighting matters or not.

The time was, and not long ago either, when anyone who chose and was sufficiently plausible, could impose on the Fort Wayne public with fancy pictures of the possibilities of municipal cheapening of electric light to "the humblest taxpayer."

Today that same public has seen the facts and figures as they were presented in these Talks, and we do not believe that anyone can convince the people of Fort Wayne that Commercial Lighting in Fort Wayne can be finally profitable or advantageous.

The Public, with the history of other cities reaching them, are in no temper to consider experimental schemes against the public welfare in lighting matters. Much less is the public willing to let its interests be subordinated to the personal interest of anybody.

This community is anxious for a greater, safer, better and brighter Fort Wayne. It proposes to have it, and if any citizen has ambitions which run counter to such a more worthy city, this is the time for all to know it.

Whether the City accountants can or cannot make a satisfactory showing for municipal street lighting, the people should at least have access to the books and know the figures.

Whatever the experiment of Commercial Lighting has cost us and is costing is a thing for the Public to know down to the first and the last penny.

We believe we have already shown, in these Talks, that the City went it blind when it first conceived the idea of a municipal lighting plant and placed the cost of such a plant at $75,000.

Also that it was still going it blind when it figured that the cost of lights to other cities having 268 street lamps was $45 to $50.

And further that it had not stopped going it blind when as late as 1902 it figured that $100,000 would be "ample" for lighting Fort Wayne streets with 400 arc lamps.

On the subject of municipal lighting, has there not been a going it blind most of the time that the subject has been before the community, and for just this reason:

That no one who was in position todo so took the trouble to dig up the facts and figures and place them clearly before the community?

Fort Wayne was misled as to the simple facts in the case and under a misapprehension has been involved in an experiment whose ultimate cost is so far beyond the original figures that it cannot even be estimated. Beware of the future. Is the outlook cheerful?

To remedy matters, to reduce dangers and to forestall fatal results, Commercial Lighting seems to have been the quack medicine that commended itself.

It might be and was a dozen times more dangerous than the disease it was recommended to cure. But then it was sure to produce complications—of trouble and accounts—that would keep the nurses occupied and the anxious taxpayers watching the bulletins from the bedside.

Those bulletins are ominous. Why not change the treatment?

Or is it an incurable case with the end in sight?

Question: Are we taxpayers to be the chief or the only mourners?

READING THE BIBLE WITH INTEREST:

PHILIP AND THE ETHIOPEAN.

Lesson Text—Acts 8: 26-40. Golden Text—John 5: 39: "Ye Search the Scriptures Because Ye Think That In Them Ye Have Eternal Life; and These Are They Which Bear Witness of Me."

International Sunday School Lesson for Sunday, March 7, 1909, by Dr. and Mrs. Wilbur F. Crafts.

[From The Christian Herald.]

The Open Bible—it was in the hands of a black man of great distinction, the secretary of the treasury to the Candace (queen) of Ethiopia, whose realm was in Africa, that part now known as the English Soudan. The bible was opened at the book of Isaiah, and the man was reading as he rode in his chariot, near the desert region of Gaza, returning to his own land from Jerusalem. He had bought the book while there, and had heard much concerning Jesus. It was rather remarkable that he was reading aloud, although reading to himself. His attention was fastened upon Isa. 53: 7, 8. "He was led as a sheep to the slaughter, and as a lamb before his shearers is dumb, so he opened not his mouth." He read with interest, but not with clear understanding.

Philip the Teacher.

A teacher sent from God. It was Philip. God had seen the perplexity of the man with the open bible, and had sent his angel to Philip in Samaria to tell him to go down on the way to Gaza. It was a fifty mile run. When Philip espied the man in the chariot, the Spirit of God said to him, "Go near and join thyself to his chariot." And Philip ran and came near the chariot, and heard the treasurer reading the bible aloud. And Philip asked, "Understandest thou what thou readest?" The treasurer confessed that he did not, and asked Philip to come and sit beside him in the chariot and explain the scripture to him. And then the treasurer began to ask him questions. Philip answered him by telling him all about Jesus. And so wise was the teacher, and so teachable was the treasurer, that he understsood very soon that Jesus was the Saviour, and seeing some water—a river, or a lake—he begged Philip to baptize him in the name of Jesus. And the record is, "He baptized him." Afterward the treasurer continued his journey to his home land, probably a thousand miles away; while the teacher, Philip, was spirited away to Azotus (Ashdod), not many miles distant, to preach the gospel (Acts 8: 39, 40). We are told the treasurer went on his way rejoicing. He could say, with the prophet Jeremiah, "Thy words were found, and I did eat them, and thy words were unto me a joy, and the rejoicing of my heart" (Jer. 15: 16). He had learned to read the bible with true interest.

Rest in my reverent hand,
O Chart, whereby
Lost man may understand
His destiny;
What his appointed way
And what the goal,
And what the powers that slay
Or save the soul.

—"To a Bible," by the Bishop of Derry and Raphoe.

The treasurer owned the bible he was reading. The avidity with which he read the bible is an indication that it was a new book to him. Let us not overlook the fact that it was only the Old Testament, probably only the prophecy of Isaiah, which he had, the New Testament not then being written. It is possible that he may have heard of the bible by the account given by the wise men of the searching of the scriptures when Herod had desired to find out about the Child who was born King of the Jews. It is possible that some of the Jews who had been scattered about by persecutions at Jerusalem had settled in the realm of Candace, and that the treasurer had seen their bibles, and so had come to desire one for his very own. We are told that he had gone to Jerusalem to worship; therefore, from some source, he must have learned about the true God. The treasurer's bible was very odd in appearance, being written by hand on a sheepskin roll, and for which he had paid a great price, so large that a copy of the scriptures was seldom owned by an individual. The story of little Mary Jones, who wished to buy a bible, is probably familiar to all, but it is worth repeating. Her home was in Wales, and she lived a little over one hundred years ago. The school she attended was two miles from her home. As soon as she learned to read, she walked to a neighbor's home, two miles farther, that she might read the bible in the home of a farmer, who had the peculiar distinction of owning a bible. It was a never-to-be-forgotten moment when Mary Jones began to read the bible. She resolved that she would some day possess a bible of her own. "I must have one," she said, "If I save up for it for ten years." The farmer's wife gave her a cock and two hens, that she might get some money by selling eggs. She got a bible money box, and put into it all she could earn, and in four years she had enough to buy a bible. She was then sixteen years old. The nearest place where she could buy a bible was Bala, twenty-five miles away. One morning, after an early breakfast of hot bread and milk, she started out on the journey, on foot, and reached her destination by nightfall, but too late to purchase the bible that night. She stayed all night in the home of a clergyman, who took her next morning to Mr. Charles, who sold bibles. Mr. Charles said: "My dear child, I am deeply grieved to have to disappoint you, but all of the Welsh bibles I received last year from London were sold months ago, excepting a few I have kept for friends, whom I must not disappoint." Mary buried her face in her hands and sobbed aloud. Mr. Charles' heart was touched, and he determined she should have a bible, even though one of his friends must be disappointed. He went to the cupboard and got it for her; then her tears were changed to smiles, and she began at once her return home with her treasure. That very bible may still be seen in London, and written on it, "Mary Jones was the true owner of this bible, bought in the year 1800, aged sixteen years."

The Bible and the Japanese.

Mr. Charles afterward told this incident in London, and it prompted the organization of the British and Foreign Bible society, and then of the American Bible society, and of bible societies in other lands, until in nearly every part of the world people may have bibles at the face cost of printing, or as free gifts if they cannot pay for them.

Very timely is the following story about some Japanese sailors who were given copies of the New Testament. The Iyo Maru lay in the Albert docks. She was a Japanese transport, and swarmed with six hundred sailors, who were to take over the Mikado's new battleship Kashima, at Newcastle. They were Togo's sailors. A party of visitors and bible society officials were welcomed on board by Lieutenant Commander Kana Kanie. A whistle sounded, and the men sprang into line with promptitude. The inevitable photographer was there and took a picture.

The next business was to distribute the Japanese testaments to the men and the English testaments to the officers. "We have lifted the lids of your boxes, all is in readiness," a polite Japanese purser informed us. "Fall into line on the lower deck!" cried the lieutenant commander. When the men stood at attention, a special presentation copy of the scriptures was handed to the lieutenant commander himself. He took it in both hands and bowed over it. Then he raised it solemnly to his forehead in a very impressive manner. "And it is English!" he exclaimed, showing it to his brother officers before he carried it away to his stateroom. Indeed, he was so delighted with his copy that, when later his photograph was being taken, he said: "First let me get my book." And, hurrying to his room, he returned with the bible in his hand. What a sight it was to witness those 600 men march past in double file and receive a New Testament! Invariably the sacred volume was raised to the forehead. Some also saluted before they received it. A few ventured to air their English and to say, "Thank you!" All were most eager to receive the gift, stretching out their hands for it, and a few late-comers ran up hastily, as if they feared they might be too late. "Thank you, commander," said the leader of the bible society's deputation, when all was over, "for the trouble you have taken, for the time you have devoted to us and for your kind reception of us." "But it is we that are honored," he politely replied; "and we thank you for the books." As the party turned away, they noticed some sailors who evidently were anxious to speak to them. They pushed forward one of their number. "I—thank—you—much—for—book," he began, nervously. After a pause, he continued, "I—am—Christian—too—yes!" with a bright smile.

Thus the book and the witnesses were left behind to testify to the Truth. Each one in the party longed more than he had ever before done that the book and the witness might hasten the day when Japan would acknowledge "Jesus Christ as Lord to the glory of God the Father."

The Treasurer Read Attentively.

He read to himself, but read aloud. Undoubtedly the voice is a help to the understanding, even if it is one's own voice. There is a psychological reason for this: the brain centers controlled by the ear in hearing, and by the mouth in speaking, are brought into exercise, thus making attention more complete. There are yet other helps to the attentive reader of the bible.

The story is told of a boy in school who was seen to spread out all of his necktles on a bed, and then choose one and carefully fold it and lay it in his bible. The matron saw him do it, and she asked, "Why do you put the necktie in your bible, Alfred?" He blushed at being found out. "Well, you see, I belong to the Scripture union, but I often forget to read my portion. So I have found out a patent way of remembering." "Yes?" said the matron, not quite comprehending. "Don't you see, that's the necktie I am to wear tomorrow. I always choose it the night before. When I look for it in the morning, it always reminds me of my Scripture union portion."

Even before a child can read he may be powerfully impressed by looking at a bible.

President Augustus H. Strong says: "One of the earliest recollections of my childhood is that of a great family bible, with a cover of brilliant red, which stood upon the center table of our humble parlor. One day I stood upon tip-toe and ventured to open it. Upon the title-page I saw the picture of a book, from which rays of light seemed to stream in every direction. A feeling of awe seized me; God seemed to be in the book; the book was almost God.

"In that picture, and in my childish impression of it, there was a solemn truth, and I would not undervalue it. But I have learned to correct the symbol. The bible is not an original source of light; it only transmits the light of Christ. It is not an original source of power; it only serves as the vehicle and instrument of Christ's power. Christ is the source from which the rays proceed and scripture is but the earthly mirror that reflects his glory. Like the Holy Spirit who inspired it, it does not magnify itself; it takes of the things of Christ and shows them to us."

In this connection read the Golden Text, John 5:39. In the Red Letter edition of the bible, issued by The Christian Herald, one may study the bible with Christ, as all of the words quoted by him are printed in red. What it will mean thus to go through the scriptures with Christ for our bible teacher!

Have you ever read the bible so attentively that you have memorized any portion?

S.S.S. PURELY VEGETABLE

It is a generally recognized truth that medicines made from vegetable ingredients are a great deal better adapted to the delicate human system, and safer in every way, than those composed of strong mineral mixtures and compounds. Mercury, potash, arsenic, etc., which are used in the manufacture of most blood medicines, are too violent in their action, and frequently derange the system by disturbing the stomach and digestion, affecting the bowels, and when used for a prolonged period often cause Rheumatism. S. S. S. is the only blood medicine guaranteed absolutely and purely vegetable. It is made entirely of roots, herbs and barks, selected for their purifying and healing qualities. S. S. S. cures Rheumatism, Catarrh, Sores and Ulcers, Scrofula, Contagious Blood Poison, and all other blood diseases, because it cleanses and purifies the blood, and at the same time builds up the entire system by its fine vegetable tonic effects. S. S. S. may be taken by young and old with absolute safety, and with the assurance that it will cure the diseases and disorders due to an impure and poisoned blood supply, even reaching down and removing hereditary taints. A CLOSE SHAVE

Many of Them Happening Every Day But Soon Forgotten.

Close shaves would be of more frequent occurrence but for the tender faces of many men, which will not permit of shaving often. Heretofore, nothing has been said in these columns about poslam, a new skin discovery, in connection with its use after shaving. Its publicity and sales have been confined almost exclusively to its remarkable properties as an eczema cure; it stops the itching at once and cures the worst cases in a few days. While the application of poslam after shaving is one of its minor uses, such as for pimples, the complexion, etc., shavers will find it a revelation, as it does for abrasions, roughness, and severe scrapings what it does for all manner of skin difficulties—heals and cures in a few hours. It is the only article possessing real antiseptic and curative value that has ever been exploited for this purpose, and will sooth and tone up the skin as no toilet preparation could possibly do.

Poslam can be had for fifty cents at any reliable druggist's, particularly Meyer Brothers, who make a specialty of it. Or the Emergency Laboratories, No. 32 West 25th Street, New York City, will send a trial supply free by mail to any one who will write for it. This is sufficient to show results in 24 hours.

We believe in POTOSOTE—we know it will cure Constipation, as well as all the diseases caused by Constipation. We want you to test POTOSOTE at our expense—we want you to give POTOSOTE a chance to prove its value—that's why we will give, without any cost whatever, a full sized 35c package to every reader of this paper, who will call in person tomorrow, Saturday, March 5, and Monday, March 8, at any drug store in Ft. Wayne, bringing the coupon printed below.

WHAT POTOSOTE WILL DO FOR YOU

POTOSOTE will permanently relieve Constipation, no matter how stubborn or chronically constipated the bowels may be.

Its action is prompt, thorough and pleasant. It promotes regular and free bowel action without griping, pain, nausea, or After-Constipation. It works as Nature works—it supplies the gentle, natural force that Nature needs to maintain a healthy, normal bowel regularity.

By keeping the bowels free and clean, POTOSOTE keeps the blood clean and pure. It will prevent and cure rheumatism and gout, because, by elimination, it carries off the waste matter and poisons that invariably cause these diseases.

POTOSOTE has a decided action upon the kidneys and bladder. It throws off the impurities that gather in these organs as a result of impaired elimination, thus preventing Bright's disease, diabetes, stone in the bladder, and other dangerous and distressing kidney and bladder diseases.

POTOSOTE cures the various forms of stomach derangements such as acute indigestion, chronic dyspepsia, gas, and inflammation. It is also a natural, logical cure for Piles in any form, as well as for diarrhoea, gall stones, biliousness, headaches, neuralgias, skin diseases, overweight, and loss of appetite.

POTOSOTE cures these diseases because they can only be cured by the free and continuous elimination from the system of waste products— and POTOSOTE is Nature's most potent eliminative agent.

WHAT POTOSOTE IS

POTOSOTE—The Mineral Water Salt—is simply a most valuable concentrated mineral water—nothing secret or mysterious about it. It's Nature's way—an open book.

It solves a problem that has for years been interesting scientists and physicians all over the world—the problem of bringing within reach of everybody the curative virtues of the celebarted mineral springs of both this country and Europe.

Mineral waters are regarded by physicians as the most natural curative agents known in diseases requiring free elimination. For this reason they send their patients to the various mineral springs to "take the waters" knowing that the results therefrom are far more beneficial and lasting than those derived from drugs and medicines. They know that, after all, Nature's cures are the best cures.

The result of many years of study and research is now found in POTOSOTE—The Mineral Water Salt. By its use the benefits found at the world's most celebrated springs are brought right into your own home at very small cost, for POTOSOTE is composed of the same pure, earthy salts found in the natural springs waters, that have given these waters their fame as Nature's greatest cure for disease.

POTOSOTE is more efficient and more economical than bottled mineral waters. In buying it you pay only for enough of the natural salts to make a gallon of POTOSOTE MINERAL WATER—you don't have to pay for the water itself, or for the bottles, cases, labor and heavy shipping expense that are unavoidable and necessary in buying bottled waters.

POTOSOTE is always uniform in strength and always fresh. Bottled waters may not reach the user until months and even years after leaving the springs, thus losing much of the strength and freshness that make them valuable.

HOW TO TEST POTOSOTE FREE

You need not take for granted any statement we make about POTOSOTE. Indeed, we prefer having you allow POTOSOTE, itself, prove that it merits your full confidence. We want to make it possible for you to do so without expense to you. That's why we want to give you a package. That's why we are having this distribution.

While we have no desire to attract the curious, we do want to interest all who should use POTOSOTE, and we are sincerely and earnestly anxious that, if you are one of these, you should accept our invitation to test fully, at no cost to you, the merits of POTOSOTE. Do us the favor of making it possible for us to convince you that POTOSOTE is a genuine health saver and health restorer.

Please understand, there are no strings whatever to this offer. All you have to do in order to get a full sized package of POTOSOTE free, is to call tomorrow and ask for it. Just cut out the little jug in the lower right hand corner of this advertisement and bring it with you. (Only one member in each family will be given a free package and none will be given to children.)

Readers of this paper, who live outside the city and who cannot come in person, may cut out the little jug and mail it, with name and address to Potosote Co., Canton, Ohio, to all such we will arrange to give a full sized, 35c package of POTOSOTE absolutely FREE.

Don't let the short trip to the drug store stand between you and what may be the one remedy—Nature's remedy—that you have needed all this time to restore you to health and vigor.

Smart Motoring Outfit

The more English and mannish the top coat is this year, the more dashing. This particular model of block check English tweed is an example of fine tailoring. The slanting side seams, patch pockets buttoned under flaps, and wide collar caught under a button are all new features.

With this swagger wrap is shown an auto hat by Gage. The arrangement of the veil around the brim is strikingly practical, and the strings that tie beneath the chin will be appreciated by the woman who rides in a stiff breeze.

PLAIN WHITE BREAD

To Be Baked in One Day.

Dissolve two compressed yeast cakes in a little lukewarm water or milk. Add to a scant quart milk or water, with a tablespoonful sugar and two of shortening and a teaspoonful of salt. Add flour to make a stiff batter, as stiff as you can beat, remembering that the longer the preliminary beating the less kneading will be required. Now add more flour, turn out on a floured board and knead fifteen or twenty minutes. Let it rise two or three hours until double its bulk, then make into loaves, handling as little as possible. Let rise to double its bulk again, then bake. The oven should be hot to start with, then cool gradually.

DISAPPEARED

Coffee Ails Vanish Before Postum.

It seems almost too good to be true, the way headache, nervousness, insomnia, and many other obscure troubles vanish when coffee is dismissed and Postum used as the regular table beverage.

The reason is clear. Coffee contains a poisonous drug—caffeine—which causes the trouble, but Postum contains only the food elements in clean, hard wheat with a little New Orleans molasses.

A Phila. man grew enthusiastic recently and wrote as follows:—

"Until 18 months ago I used coffee regularly every day and suffered from headache, bitter taste in my mouth, and indigestion; was gloomy and tactious, had variable or absent appetite, loss of flesh, depressed in spirits, etc.

"I attribute these things to coffee because since I have drank Postum I feel better than I had for 20 years, am less susceptible to cold, have gained 20 lbs. and all the above symptoms have disappeared—vanished before Postum." "There's a Reason."

Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich. Read "The Road to Wellville," in pkgs. of Postum.

Ever read the above letter? A new one appears from time to time. They are genuine, true, and full of human interest.

THE APOLLO CLUB CONCERT.

The soloist at the coming concert of the Apollo club, on next Monday evening, will be the well known tenor, Glen Hall, of Chicago. The Cincinnati Enquirer says of Mr. Hall in a concert of the Orpheus club of that city in last December: "The soloist was Glenn Hall, the American tenor, who has just returned from a stay of several years in Europe. Mr. Hall is a delightful and manly singer. His voice is full of color and vibrant in its dramatic intensity. But he is above all very artistic in his endeavors, and, while ready to please his audiences, cares only to do so in a legitimate manner. His first number was the aria "Onaway, Awake Beloved," from Coleridge-Taylor's "Hiawatha's Wedding Feast," which immediately established his success. His first group was given over to four modern songs, which he sang in German with excellent articulation. The second group contained two old English melodies, a rather labored song by Coleridge-Taylor, "Genevieve," and Tours setting of the Kipling poem, "Mother o'Mine." The English melodies were exquisitely done and the final selection was sung with discriminating dramatic effect. He was compelled to respond to several encores, including the inevitable "Drink to Me Only With Thine Eyes," which he sang beautifully, and an Irish Folk song, which once was dear in the Bispham repertoire."

DECORATION FOR A LUNCHEON.

(From the New York Times.)

A decoration for a luncheon that is seldom seen, yet which may be made very charming, is a low silver bowl filled with pansies of all colors. If the stems are not specially long, a piece of wire netting can be placed over the top of the bowl and the pansies stuck in it.

The effect is enhanced if the bowl is set on a large, round mirror surrounded with a border of small ferns. At each plate have a small pot of growing pansies, which may later be given as souvenirs. These look well if the pots are set in small paper cases made of stiff cardboard covered with silver paper.

Should there be a guest of honor, her plants may be larger than the others, or the case can be a small silver jardiniere.

The candle shades should carry out the predominating tones of the pansies. Silver candlesticks should be used if possible. Effective shades can be made of white paper garlanded with artificial pansies.

HENDERSON WAS NOT MEMBER OF THE LODGE

Was Arranging to Give a "Cullud" Ball and Went Wrong.

Felix Henderson had arranged to give a "cullud" ball under the auspices of the colored lodge of Knights of Pythias, but he did not consult the organization and its members did not even know him and tomorrow morning he will answer a charge of obtaining money under false pretenses. This was brought out in the city court today.

According to the information obtained by the police Henderson got a big sheet of paper, blocked it off into advertising squares and went among the business men soliciting and in many instances he succeeded in mulcting the merchants, as most of the spaces were sold and the majority of them marked paid.

The money he evidently invested in strong drink as he was drunk when the police got him and was arraigned this morning on that charge. He was placed under a bond of $100 for his appearance and went to jail in default.

Bought Stolen Iron.

Harry Wilson reported to the police that he bought $45 worth of iron from two well-dressed men yesterday and after he had paid for it and taken a receipt Dr. G. M. Leslie, of the Bass Foundry and Machine company, claimed the stuff was stolen. The men, Wilson said, were in a buggy and were entire strangers to him.

No evidence was heard in the assault and battery case of John W. Affolder and he went over until Monday morning.

Frank Tharp, who was drunk and ugly at the interurban station, drew a fine of $1 and costs.

Visit the Patternson-Fletcher Co. store tomorrow and see the new spring overcoats, suits, hats, ties and shirts.

Edward M. Wilson is home from a business trip to Indianapolis.

DREAM OF THE RAREBIT FIEND
BY SILAS
THERE ARE 12 MEN IN THIS RACE AND I AM IN THE LEAD!
EACH OF US HAS A BET ON HIMSELF OF A THOUSAND DOLLARS! IT LOOKS PRETTY SOFT FOR ME! IF I WIN I'LL BE ELEVEN THOUSAND DOLLARS TO THE GOOD.
HUSTLING FOR THE MONEY, EH? WELL, YOU WILL NOT GET IT!
WHY, YOU'LL NOT PASS ME!
IF I DON'T, I'LL TELL YOU WHAT WE'LL DO, EH? WE'LL SPLIT THE WINNINGS. WHAT DO YOU SAY?
OH! ARE WE SLOWING UP OR ARE THEY SPEEDING
I'M GOING TO WIN THE MONEY!! WATCH ME PASS YOU!
YOU'LL NOT PASS THIS KID!
NOR ME, MY LITTLE FAT FRIEND. HUH!
WE CAN'T ALL WIN. SOME ONE WILL DROP OUT, SURE!
TWENTY-THREE MILES; THE SLOW NUMBER!
I FEEL FRESH!
HERE'S WHERE YOU ALL LOSE YOUR ENTRANCE MONEY. I'M GOING TO PASS YOU LIKE YOU WERE RUNNING BACKWARDS, BACK, BACK, WITH
OH! I'M ON DECK YET!
I'M IN THE RUNNING YET.
ME, TOO!
WELL, YOU'LL NOT BE IN THE RUNNING LONG. WATCH ME SPRINT BY YOU ALL!
OH! OH! OH! I'M EXHAUSTED
IT'S A DEAD HEAT. NO ONE WINS! YOU'LL HAVE TO RUN THE RACE ALL OVER AGAIN. GENTS!
YEP. YOU WILL HAVE TO RUN IT ALL OVER AGAIN. IT'S A TIE!
WOWIE! I WAS A-SLEEP! BRING ME A CUP OF COFFEE TO WAKE ME UP AGAIN! THAT WAS A GOOD RAREBIT!
I'M GLAD OF THAT! I THOUGHT YOU WUZ SLEEP!

Zanesville Wants Geyer for Its Outfield and Offers Trade for Him

ZANESVILLE ASKS A TRADE FOR JOHN GEYER

Offers Pitcher Hasting in Exchange—Gossip of Central.

Zanesville wants John "Lefty" Geyer and is willing to trade Charlie Brotherton most any kind of a gold brick for his services and is just now trying to palm off Pitcher Hastings for the Cincinnati Dutchman. Phil Nadeau was offered first but he was not accepted as the owner and manager are hustling for new blood and did not feel like picking up any dead ones.

Hastings pitched pretty fair ball in the Southern Michigan league last summer, but he hit .097 and that settled his chances to get on with Brothreton as he and Joe Raidy are looking for some players who can hit the ball as well as field and are trying to avoid a stricture upon the team of the kind Marty Hogan's father delivered at Zanesville last spring. He went out and looked the club over and commented thusly: "They kin keth the ball and run like the divil, but divil the wan of then can clout it."

* * *

Ed Walker is discovered. Some astute writer on the league circuit has made the prediction that he will be drafted by one of the major league teams at the close of the coming season. He has been up and back and his performances with Cincinnati where he played for a while are not likely to get him a second trial. He can pitch a little, but he couldn't field a bunt fast enough to throw Jim Richardson out at first and until he develops a little more fielding ability Zanesville need have no worriment about him.

Over at Terre Haute Tim Jewett, one of the oldest and best writers on the Central league circuit, is terribly worried because Fort Wayne's team will not be any stronger than it was last season when it finished at the tail end of the first division, and in his opinion, the locals have no chance to keep up in the pennant chase in 1909. This may all be true, but if money can buy the players Fort Wayne will have a better club than last year. A good catcher is already signed and the squad from which the pitching staff will be picked is the most promising the club has ever had.

There are a few things under cover that are being stored up for surprises and when the Fort Wayne club takes the field next month it will have as likely lot on its roster as any in the Central league and Hendricks will be out for the pennant from the time the flag drops and if he can't win the flag he wants to beat Grant for a position in the race.

"Pretty nifty little gym, hey? Give Old Ham a little write up. Weigh less than 200 pounds for the first time in three years. Got a class of kids and one of business men. Keep it nice and warm down here and a fellow sweats like blazes (substitute for the word really used. Watch old Ham this year. He'll be there with the bells. Can't keep him down. He will be in the best condition of any of them when reporting time comes. Going up next year. Nothing to it. I'll be there and that's all." This line of talk was handed out by Harry Hammond yesterday in his gymnasium at Fischer's bath house where he is working hard and getting down to weight for the practice season.

Louis D. Smith is on a still hunt for a second baseman and when he uncovers Terre Haute fandom will open its eyes, he says. He refuses to tell anything about the phenom, but he says he will be the best in the league and he generally knows what he is talking about when it comes to making discoveries. Christopher Columbus had nothing on him except that he was on the discovering job first.

EBNER SCORES HIGH SERIES AT BIG MEETING

Rolls 258 in Third Game and Gets Best Marks of the Tournament.

Pittsburg, Pa., March 5.—The first 600 series of the present tournament of the American Bowling congress in the singles was rolled by Louis Ebner, a local man, who scored 615 and is now the leader in the individual championship of the tournament. Ebner started out with a mediocre total of 148. His second showed improvement with 209, while in his closing game he set a new high game record for the meet with 258. Locks is second with his 597, Pittsburg leading in the two top positions.

No change occurred in the standing of the doubles outside of fourth place, a local pair, Kalchthaler and Bauer, putting up 1,120 for that position. None of the other pairs showed any class. The Webers of Toledo still lead the five-man event with 2,636.

Cleveland alone has the edge on the present meet for coldness, the interior of the hall here being ice cold all day, making bowling difficult for the players, who soon found their hands benumbed. President George Myers admitted that the steam heating plant in the building was insufficient on a cold day, and overcoats have been the rule for everybody in the place, outside of the bowlers, who look frozen in their light shirts. Several of them have solved the problem of keeping warm by wearing sweaters.

DEVLIN'S WIFE IS DIVORCED.

Polo Player Left Last May and She Has Not Heard From Him Since.

Eddie Devlin, who played center on the Central and Western Polo league teams, lost his better half yesterday at Marion over the divorce route. Mrs. Devlin charged that since their marriage in 1905 he had not only failed to provide for her, but had squandered $800 left her by her first husband. During their married life he neither paid house rent, bought her clothing or provided for the table.

FOR DISEASES OF THE SKIN.

Nearly all diseases of the skin such as eczema, tetter, salt rheum and barbers' itch, are characterized by an intense itching and smarting, which often makes life a burden and disturbs sleep and rest. Quick relief may be had by applying Chamberlain's Salve. It allays the itching and smarting almost instantly. Many cases have been cured by its use. For sale by all druggists.

The board of censors at Stuttgart, Germany, would not permit the performance in that city recently of Borngraeber's drama entitled "The First Man and Woman." A Stuttgart paper says: "This play is simple and pure, with its Paradise setting, and not a work on which the pious anger of the censor should have been poured out." In the same city the owner of a hall refused to let it to Gabrielle Reuter, who wished to read there from her novel, "The House of Tears." The same paper says that the German people are awakening to the fact that all things that are written are not worthy of production.

FREDDY WELCH

WELSH MAY TRY FOR THIRD BASE ON BENDERS

Grant Fortifying Himself in Event Sheehan Fails to Sign Up.

South Bend, Ind., March 5.—Fearing that Danny Sheehan may stick to his resolve not to play third base on the local team at $200 a month which is the very most the club management can pay him without violating a rule of the Central league, Manager Angus A. Grant has made an offer to "Runt" Welsh who had a try with Dayton three years ago and whose chief difficulty lay in his inability to keep in condition.

Last season as a member of the Meridian, Miss., team of the Cotton States eague Welsh hit .222 and fielded .940, which does not speak well for his ability to hold down Sheehan's job, especially if the local manager expects to bring home that pennant he promised Bert Annis last year, but then somebody has to play third base and if the brick-top fails to come across with a contract then Welsh is the next best chance.

Welsh started professional baseball as a member of the Lima team of the Interstate league into which Fort Wayne went after Isadore Mautner had thrown up his Central league franchise in a huff because some of the directors at Dayton declined to be dictated to in the matter of conducting baseball affairs. He looked like a whirlwind as his fielding was clean and fast and his hitting was strong.

When the Interstate gasped a few gasps along about the Fourth of July and departed for the realm where so many baseball leagues lie buried, Welsh was picked up by Dayton and played third there a while, then Terre Haute picked him up, but he could not stick to the principle of total abstinence, or any where near it, and pretty soon the manager got around with a little envelope containing the balance of his pay and a notice that he would find somebody else doing duty in his place when he went to the park the following day, and with the further admonition that if he had any club property he had best surrender it right away.

However, there is hope in the breast of the astute little baseball general that Sheehan will be on the job himself as he can not play organized ball in any other league so long as he is the property of South Bend and there is nothing left for him but the outlaws. R. B. Kelly, who played utility roles last season could be used at third, but Grant wants to fortify himself and be prepared for all emergencies. His troubles with George Tieman, Ed Smith and Kurke are not settled, but the public is apparently worrying more about it than Grant and the owner.

Elmer Moffit blew in from New Carlisle yesterday and spent the day with Ed Smith. During the winter months Moffit puts in his time as head of one of the most prosperous barber shops in his native village, but the simple life is beginning to pall upon him and he longs for greater activities and would hie him back to Toronto which was the scene of his many brilliant victories of last season.

Manager Grant and Bert Annis are preparing to go to the Terre Haute meeting on Monday to be on hand when the schedule gathering takes place. They are open for some trades or purchases and if there are any of the clubs with surplus material that looks good it will be picked up. The management has some ante-season dates with the Chicago semi-professional clubs, but Grant will scan the rosters of these teams pretty closely before he engages in any warfare with them.

The clubs carry some outlaws and when some of the big league players joined in combat last season the ban was placed upon them by the big moguls and it cost them about $50 a throw to get back in the good graces of organized ball. There are enough troubles on the surface for the local management just at this time to keep dodging and none will be added that can be avoided.

WELSH IS CONFIDENT.

English Champion Thinks He Will Beat Ray Bronson Tonight.

New Orleans, La., March 5.—English Champion Freddie Welsh has finished training for his twenty-round fight with Ray Bronson, of Indianapolis, which will take place at the West Side club tonight. He is confident he will dispose of the Hoosier lightweight by a knockout and set at rest for all time that he lacks punching ability.

Replying to Battling Nelson's defi, that he stood ready at any time to trim in the same ring after a short interval of rest all the English lightweight aspirants for championship honors, Welsh, who has been after the Battler's scalp the most persistently of any of the foreigners, stated:

"Nelson is making a big noise, but talking foolishly when he says that he can lick collectively the little men from England now here trying to get on a match for the championship. Nothing would afford me greater pleasure than to demonstrate this to the champion and I could do so if he would show a disposition to sign articles with me."

WADDELL FILES DIVORCE SUIT.

St. Louis, March 5.—A petition for divorce was filed by George Edward (Rube) Waddell here today. The document charges that Mrs. Waddell showed "a violent and ungovernable temper" at various times, and also "that on one occasion, when plaintiff threatened to leave defendant on account of her association with persons distasteful to plaintiff, while they were residing in the city of Lynn, Mass., defendant caused plaintiff to be attacked by a pair of vicious dogs and seriously wounded and lacerated."

Waddell is famous as a baseball pitcher, being at present a member of the local American league team. Mrs. Waddell, the petition states, resides in New Hampshire.

PURE FOODS AND PURE MEDICINES

Mean better, healthier, happier people. It has been proved, however, that all medicines are not adulterated and worthless any more than are all food products.

The wheat has been sifted from the chaff, and such medicines as Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, which is made from roots and herbs and complies with all conditions of the Pure Food and Drug Law, will continue to hold its place as the standard American remedy for female ills.

Even the kitchen can boast its martyrs. Chief among these was Vatel, the chief cook of Conde, who ran himself through the heart with a sword because the fish had not arrived in time for a banquet which his master was giving Louis XIV. Vatel's panegyric is to be found in the concluding volume of the "Almanach des Gourmands": "So noble a death insures you, venerable shade, the most glorious immortality! You have proved that the fanaticism of honor can exist in the kitchen as well as in the camp and that the suit and the saucepan have also their Catos and their Deciuses."

MARRIED MEN WIN A GAME FROM THE LEADERS

Hecht Tabs 232 in the Second Game at the St. Mary's Alleys.

Hecht got eight strikes in the second game of the series between the Married Men and the Rubnomores at St. Mary's' alleys last night and his big score of 232 enabled the Benedicts to take one of the three combats from the league leaders. He rolled the only double century of the series, although Henry Schnelker came within two pins of the mark in the opening game and was high all along the line for his club. The score:

Story Corner for Base Ball Fans

Elmer Bates, the "Little Old Man" of the Cleveland Press, tells the following stories about Old Cy Young, "Grand Old Man" of baseball:

Old Cy never kicks at the umpire. One day in 1907 he and Addie Joss fought out a great 1 to 0 10-inning game in Boston. Cleveland won on a base on balls, helped along by an error and a single.

Late that evening, Tommy Connolly came into the hotel where Young was sitting.

"I'm not sure that I didn't give you the worst of it, Cy, on that fourth ball," said the umpire. "It seemed from where I stood to be pretty high."

"Oh, that was a ball all right, Tommy," said Cy. "It was at least six inches too high."

"Which one of your 478 victories in the major league do you recall with the most satisfaction?" was asked Old Cy when the Little Old Man visited him at Paoli.

"The first game I ever pitched for Cleveland, back in 1890," replied Old Cy, unhesitatingly. "I doubt if a baseball crowd ever looked on a more typical rube than I appeared to be that day in a makeshift uniform six or seven sizes too small. I didn't have much money then, but I wouldn't have lost that game for the prettiest $1,000 bill ever printed."

There's another game Cy remembers fondly. It was played by the Cleveland and Boston teams at the close of the double season championship in 1892, and the score at the end of the eleventh inning when the game was called, was 0 to 0. Young pitched for Cleveland and big Jack Stivetts for Boston.

"I guess I worked harder that day than I ever did before or than I've worked since," says Old Cy.

Old Cy is probably the most modest "big man" baseball has ever produced.

At the Colonial in Cleveland, one day last summer a young man took a chair beside the great pitcher and began paying him fulsome praise.

"You are the swiftest pitcher I ever saw," he said.

"Then," said Old Cy, "I guess you never saw Amos Rusie. My fast ball looks like a slow freight trying to keep up with the Twentieth Century Limited compared with Rusie's."

"But your slow ball is a peach."

"Young man," remarked Old Cy, gravely, "if I could pitch the slow ball that Eddie Beattin, the old Cleveland twirler used to hand up to the batters, I'd let them knock $1,000 a year off my salary."

It is a matter of record that Old Cy didn't know he had retired the Athletics without a man reaching first in that wonderful game at Boston, May 5, 1904, until another player on the Boston team told him.

"I knew Connie's boys hadn't made a hit," said Old Cy the next day, "but I couldn't understand why the crowd was making such a demonstration.

"'Well, you've done it, Cy,' said Jimmy Collins, as we started for the dressing room after the crowd had let me go.

"'Done what, Jimmy?' I asked. 'Pitched a no-hit game?'

"'Better than that; not a man reached first.

"'Then I knew what all the racket was about.'"

WILL NOT SIGN THE SUNDAY BASEBALL ENACTMENT

Governor Says One Veto is Enough—Says Supreme Court May Decide.

Indianapolis, March 5.—The Sunday baseball bill will become a law without the sanction of Governor Marshall.

The senate passed the second Brolley bill yesterday, which seeks to legalize the playing of the game on Sunday between the hours of 1 p. m. and 6 p. m., and shortly before 3 o'clock the enrolled act was taken to the governor for his consideration.

Three hours later the governor sent a message to the house with the information that he would deposit the enrolled bill with the secretary of state at the expiration of three days, with neither his signature nor his veto, at which time it will become a law.

Sitting in the ante-room of the executive offices a few minutes after the message had been read to the members of the house, Governor Marshall expressed a wish that he could have vetoed the bill. His reasons for not doing so are expressed in his message, chief among them being that the legislature has once disagreed with him on the question, and he does not desire to be considered as taking advantage of the legislative branch of the government, especially at this late day in the session.

Position of Governor.

Governor Marshall's reasons for neither approving nor disapproving the measure are clearly set forth in his message. He would not sign the measure because he believes it to be unconstitutional. He would not veto it because he had once expressed his views to the legislature on the same subject, and the members had disagreed with him. The governor had been urged, he said in his message, to veto the bill because by so doing he could at least prevent the playing of baseball on Sunday for two years. But, to quote one sentence from the message, "I am not one of those who believe that the end justifies the means."

When Mark Thistlethwaite, the governor's secretary, appeared in the house with the message all of the members who were present crowded around him and listened with great interest to the reading. When he finished some of the members cheered. The message follows:

Mr. Speaker and Gentlemen of the House of Representatives:

I have again received the bill which is commonly called "the Sunday baseball bill." I have no doubt that when you first presented this measure to me it was your intention to simply enact a Sunday baseball law, and that by the passage of the present bill you mean me to understand that you would have passed the other bill over my veto, if it had not been for certain defects contained in the same.

"I have been seriously urged to veto the present bill upon the theory that I could thus prevent Sunday baseball being played by professional players for the period of two years. I am not one of those who believe that the end justifies the means. I would not try to thwart the will of the legislative branch of this government beyond my constitutional right to do so. That right I have once exercised and you are not in accord with my views. I will not, therefore, take advantage of you at the close of this session by exercising a second veto.

It is my personal opinion that it is not constitutional to permit one class of citizens, unless engaged in a work of necessity or charity, to pursue their usual vocations on Sunday unless you strike down the Sunday law altogether and permit all business to run as usual on Sunday; for it must not be forgotten that while base ball, as played by the professional player, is a sport for the spectator, it is labor for the men who furnish the sport.

Speaks for a Day of Rest.

The number of cases of nervous breakdown and of suicides, and of inmates of insane asylums and sanitariums, is largely increased, in my judgment, by the failure of mankind to recognize, outside of any revelation from above, the necessity of one day of rest out of seven. I, however, believe that so great is the interest in this question that a large number of my fellow citizens whose views do not coincide with my own, would think that another veto of this bill was simply injecting into this question my personal views in the matter, and that I was using my pretended views as to the constitutionality of this act in order to uphold my private views upon the question.

There is, however, a branch of government which will settle forever this mooted question. That branch is the judicial. The people of Indiana alternately applaud and criticise the legislature and the governor, but all bow respectfully before the decisions of the supreme court of the state of Indiana. It is to the interest of the public that this question discussed for many years should be forever settled by the one tribunal which can settle it to the approval of all good citizens. I may be in error in neither approving nor vetoing house enrolled act No. 594, but it is my deliberate judgment that time will demonstrate my wisdom and fair dealing in now leaving this question to adjudication in the courts of Indiana so that it may never again arise to vex either the legislative or executive branches of this state.

I shall not, therefore, either approve or veto this bill, but at the expiration of three days from its receipt I will deposit the same with the secretary of state, unsigned by me. Very respectfully yours,

Thomas R. Marshall,
March 4, 1909. Governor.

The friends of Sunday base ball in the senate were somewhat perturbed yesterday when they learned that Senator Bland, in retaliation for the house democrats deciding to kill his Linton court bill, was considering the idea of entering a motion to reconsider the vote by which the bill was passed. On investigation, however, it was learned that the bill had already been enrolled and sent to the governor and there was some doubt whether the senate had the right to recall it. The motion to reconsider was not presented.

Certain Proof Will Be Made That Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets Cure Stomach Trouble.

THIS EXPERIMENT FREE.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are made to give to the system, through the digestive tract and the stomach, the necessary chemicals not only to digest food, but to enrich the fluids of the body so that it may no longer suffer from dyspepsia or other stomach trouble.

We will send you a quantity of these tablets free, so that their power to cure may be proven to you.

Thousands upon thousands of people are using these tablets for the aid and cure of every known stomach disease. Know what you put into your stomach, and use discretion in doing so.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets contain fruit and vegetable essences, the pure concentrated tincture of Hydrastis, Golden Seal, which tone up and strengthen the mucous lining of the stomach, and increase the flow of gastric and other digestive juices; Lactose (extracted from milk); Nux, to strengthen the nerves controlling the action of the stomach and to cure nervous dyspepsia; pure aseptic Pepsin of the highest digestive power and approved by the United States Pharmacopoeia.

One of the ablest professors of the University of Michigan recently stated that this Pepsin was the only aseptic pepsin he had found that was absolutely pure—free from all animal impurities; Bismuth, to absorb gases and prevent fermentation. They are deliciously flavored with concentrated Jamaica Ginger—in itself a well known stomach tonic.

Liquid medicines lose their strength the longer they are kept, through evaporation, fermentation and chemical changes, hence Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are recognized as the only true and logical manner of preserving the ingredients given above in their fullest strength.

If you really doubt the power of these tablets, take this advertisement to a druggist and ask his opinion of the formula.

It is due your stomach to give it the ingredients necessary to stop its trouble. It costs nothing to try. You know what you are taking, and the fame of these tablets prove their value. All druggists sell them. Price 50 cents. Send us your name and address and we will send you a trial package by mail free. Address F. A. Stuart Co., 150 Stuart Building, Marshall, Mich.

How to Cure Pimples

The germs that cause skin eruptions must be drawn to the surface of the skin and destroyed.

GERMO TINCTURINE is a scientific preparation for external use and will do this and permanently cure Pimples, Cold Sores, Eczema, Salt Rheum, Dandruff, and all forms of itching skin disease.

Put up in 25c and 50c sizes. Try one bottle and be convinced, or write us for Free Pamphlet and we will tell you where to get it in Fort Wayne.

A PERFECTLY WELL WOMAN

This Lady in Vincennes Tells Suffering Sisters How She Was Cured.

Neglect or improper treatment of woman's ills almost inevitably leads to a train of unfortunate results and frequently to a lifetime of misery. In time almost every organ of the body becomes affected, the nervous system is broken down, the digestion is weakened and symptoms of kidney trouble develop.

Women who become pale and lose weight and ambition and are subject to headaches and fainting spells, need such a tonic as Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. They are especially adapted for girls and women of all ages and give just the aid required to bring back health and strength to the nervous and exhausted.

Mrs. Ella King, of 927 North Sixth street, Vincennes, Ind., was ill with female weakness for nearly a year. She says: "My sickness was brought on, I think, by overwork. There was a dull heavy pain in my stomach and at times I could hardly bear it. My appetite was poor, nothing I ate seemed to agree with me and I was constantly belching gas from my stomach. There was a pain across my kidneys and I suffered with intense headaches and dizzy spells. I felt mean all the time and had no ambition to do my work.

"I tried many different medicines but they did not help me. I read of a case similar to mine which had been cured by Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and began to take them. A few boxes helped me so much that I continued taking them until I was cured and feel entirely well now."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are a tonic for the blood and nerves and have proved especially helpful to women and growing girls. They were used extensively in private medical practice and, proving efficient in a wide range of diseases and absolutely safe in all cases, were placed upon general sale with directions for use prepared by the doctor himself. Their merit has made them the most widely used family medicine in the world today.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are sold by all druggists, or sent by mail, postpaid, on receipt of price, 50 cents per box; six boxes for $2.50, by the Dr. Williams Medicine Company, Schenectady, N. Y.

GOOD COUGH MEDICINE FOR CHILDREN.

The season for coughs and colds is now at hand and too much care cannot be used to protect the children. A child is much more likely to contract diphtheria or scarlet fever when he has a cold. The quicker you cure his cold the less the risk. Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is the sole reliance of many mothers, and few of those who have tried it are willing to use any other. Mrs. F. F. Starcher, of Ripley, W. Va., says: "I have never used anything other than Chamberlain's Cough Remedy for my children." This remedy contains no opium or other narcotic and may be given as confidently to a child as to an adult. For sale by all druggists.

The New York Diet Kitchen association, according to the report read by Mrs. Henry Villard, its president, at the recent annual meeting, far surpassed last year the work done in any twelve months of its previous history. According to Mrs. Villard's report there were three reasons for this increase,—one the industrial depression, another the co-operation of the association with the New York milk commission, and the third the infant mortality work of the board of health. During the last year the expenses of the association were more than $28,000.

Nasal Catarrh, an inflammation of the delicate membrane lining the air-passages, is not cured by any mixtures taken into the stomach. Don't waste time on them. Take Ely's Cream Balm through the nostrils, so that the fevered, swollen tissues are reached at once. Never mind how long you have suffered nor how often you have been disappointed, we know Ely's Cream Balm is the remedy you should use. All druggists, 50c. Mailed by Ely Bros., 56 Warrent Street, New York.

IN THE THEATERS

Walker Whiteside and company in "The Melting Pot" tonight is the attraction at the Majestic. No one will be seated during the entire first act, which is long, and late arrivals will not be admitted to the foyer of the theater after the act begins, at 8:30, until it ends. The story of the play concerns David Quixano, a young Russian Hebrew student and musician, who after seeing his parents murdered at Kischeneff, comes to this country and lives in New York, making his home with an uncle at Staten Island and his living by teaching and playing the violin. In settlement district work he has met Vera Ravendal and in the first act she visits his uncle's house to get David to play for the settlement upon a certain occasion. They make the mutual discovery at that time that David is a Jew and that Miss Ravendal is a Russian. Another character in the play is Quincy Davenport, a son of a multimillionaire, who is acquainted with Miss Ravendal and whom she gets to take an interest in an opera which David has been writing. Davenport soon sees that Vera has fallen in love with David and then throws up the proposition he had made with the leader of an orchestra, to give David's operatic score a trial hearing. Davenport then sends his own yacht abroad to bring Vera's parents, her father and stepmother to New York, and put a stop to the engagement between David and Vera. On the arrival of Vera's father two discoveries are made. He is horrified to find that his daughter's fiance is a Hebrew and David is shocked inexpressibly by seeing that the parent of the girl he loves is the man who killed his own father. Before David has seen Vera's father, however, Baron Ravendal has come to the conclusion that he had better make the best of an engagement that, while contrarary to canons of caste in Russia in America is not considered from that standpoint at all, and is about to give his consent to the marriage when David enters upon the scene. He recognizes the baron as the "butcher" of his parents and denounces him before he knows that it is Vera's father to whom he is speaking. The situation is then brought home to him and both he and Vera recognize that marriage between them is impossible.

The fourth act is a Saturday night—the Fourth of July—on the roof garden of the settlement house, and David's opera is here being performed for the first time. He himself has crept away to nurse his seared heart alone, and to him comes Vera. Their greetings are at first of the most formal character, but as they talk they begin to realize that race and creed is as nothing when they are but fragments tossed into "the crucible" as part of the material that the Almighty is using in his construction of the American people. Having realized this, the next step is an inevitable one, and of course they arrange to marry immediately.

* * *

The Majestic entertained a well-pleased audience last evening when "Hello Bill" again made its appearance. The play is one of the great laughing successes of the Majestic season, and Our Own Stock company is proving itself fully capable of handling it. The play will be given again on Saturday afternoon and evening.

$250,000 Paid For Land Tract

Eugene R. Hardendorf, Former Fort Wayne Man, In Big Deal With Charles T. Page at Atlanta, Ga.

(Atlanta, Ga., Constitution.)

Probably the largest land deal that has ever been pulled off in Atlanta property was consummated at noon yesterday, when Charles T. Page, with offices at 211 Candler building, and Eugene R. Hardendorf, of Chicago, bought from the Edgewood Park Land company and other parties a tract of land of about 150 acres, paying for it over a quarter of a million dollars.

The land in question is situated near Druid Hill, having for its boundary line on the north Ponce de Leon avenue, on the south McLendon avenue, on the east Druid Hill property, and on the west Mason's avenue. All of this property is located within the city limits.

There are at present a number of houses located on this land, which are all to be removed, and it is the purpose of the purchasers to subdivide this land and cut it up into lots, it being estimated that there are in the neighborhood of 700 residential lots in this tract of land. When the work of removing the houses is completed and the land subdivided it will then be in condition to build upon.

This location is one of the most desirable sections in this city for residential purposes. The Inman Park to Clifton car line runs directly through this section and it is but twenty minutes' ride from the heart of the city and will therefore be convenient to business men or anyone desiring to build a residence in that section.

Mr. Hardendorf was born and reared in Fort Wayne, and is well known here. He has extensive holdings at Clear Lake, in Steuben county, which has been his summer home for many years. Mr. Page is a brother of W. D. Page, of this city, and has also been a frequent visitor at Clear Lake.

NOTES OF THE DAY.

Cutting the finger nails appears to have been the most indispensable service the ancient Roman barber rendered to his patrons. Martial, chaffing a fop who had tried to dodge the barber by using plasters to remove his beard, asks triumphantly: "How are you going to manage about your nails?" And the miser in Plautus collects the parings of his nails from the barber to make something out of them, apparently never dreaming that he could save money by cutting them himself.

INAUGURAL BALL A VERY BRILLIANT SUCCESS

Ballroom in Pension Building a Scene of Surpassing Beauty.

Washington, D. C., March 5.—Never since the first president led Lady Washington through the mazes of the stately minuette has there been a more beautiful inaugural ball than that last night, which brought to a brilliant close the festivities of the week.

From the days of powder and patches, knee buckles and glittering swords, is a far cry to the prosaic, matter of factness of today, and balls there have been innumerable, one every four years, each forming a unit in the history of the country, but that of last night was the crowning glory of the skill of architects, florists, electricians, caterers, musicians, and the army of men and brains that go to turn out the perfect result of a beautifully set and arranged entertainment.

Like Scene in the Alhambra.

The scene meeting the eyes last night, as the visitor entered the pension building, where the inaugural balls have taken place for the last decade or more, was that of the inner court of some stately palace. One stepped as from the modern day of the outside world to an Alhambra or some Byzantine palace, en fete, brilliant with countless lights and sweet with the perfume of rare blossoms.

The great inner court of the building was the picture of an artist, done in the rich, mellow tones of old ivory and sienna. The tall columns, simulating sienna marble, which support the great arched roof of the structure, were, as usual, the chief features in color, the draperies and furnishings chiming in with their subdued tones. It was an "old ivory" ball, the color scheme being that of ivory or marble mellowed by time, and making a soft and effective background for the kaleidoscopic panorama within the court.

The court was canopied with deep cream bunting and the walls were draped in the same color. Everywhere the old ivory tone was carried out, the only notes of color being in the floral decorations along the inner wall of the cloistered archway extending around the building, tier above tier, and in the massing of azaleas, bougainville, and tropical and other plants, forming a mass of blossoms about the fountain in the center.

President's Box a Blaze of Color.

In strong contrast to the general effect of old ivory, emphasized here and there by a mingling of bright hued blossoms, were the splashes of color formed by the president's box and the musicians' stand. They faced each other at the ends of the building, and the dominant colors in each were red and gold.

The great vaulted canopy that roofed the court was 300 feet long and 100 feet wide, divided into squares, resembling sunken panels, which seemed to be supported by the four huge sienna marble columns. Vying with the columns in importance in the decorative scheme were the great chandeliers. There were eighteen large fixtures, each one bearing a cluster design of 125 globular lamps of frosted glass.

These huge chandeliers, a distinctively new feature of decoration, were most artistic. There were six long gilded chains suspended from one heavy one, bearing the bowl shaped mass of lights, and each light was surmounted by a rosette of white plaster, resembling the calix of a flower, this reflecting the light and softening it, giving the effect of many candles, and throwing a luminous glow over shimmering satins and gleaming jewels. All the light was concentrated in these huge chandeliers, there being no side brackets as formerly.

Flowers and Vines Add to Effect.

The mural decoration of the cloistered archway was purely of grouped flowers and vines. These clusters of greens and brilliant hued blossoms crowned the spaces between the short pillars of the colonnade running around the hall, surmounting every arch. The dominant note of color was the brilliant pinkish red of azaleas, which were used profusely, being massed with other blossoms in trailing vines and festoons of southern smilax and galax leaves.

Azaleas, bougainville, a trophy from the country's island possessions in the Philippines, with rhododendrons of various hues, from shell pink to magenta and mauve blossoms, were massed with palms and tropical plants in the basin of the fountain, which was filled with water, though the jet of the fountain itself did not play. Plants and flowers completely covered the fountain proper, making a small island in the center of the basin, and the outer circle of plants was connected with the island now and then by tiny bridges of bark, the whole carrying out a sort of grotto effect. Acacia, spirea, and other tall and graceful shrubs rose above the mass of clustered blossoms here and there, giving the effect of a suggestion of spring.

Central Point of Interest.

Of course, the central point of interest to the thousands of spectators was the president's box, which was at the west end of the court. The box was built differently than on other similar occasions. It projected fifteen feet from the wall and was four or five feet lower than the balcony floor, thus enabling the public to get a better view of the president and his party. The box was octagonal in shape and occupied the space of three arches of the colonnade. It was reached by a broad flight of stairs, down which the party passed in making the grand march around the ballroom. The central arch in the box was opened and draped, giving depth to the effect and making a sort of loggia. This loggia was lined with scarlet, indirectly lighted, so as to produce a soft, warm glow. The opening was arched and flanked on either side by columns of gold, and again on either side of these were heavy curtains of rich fabric. The whole was crossed overhead by a lambrequin with gold fringe and border of gold. Above this, crowning the whole, was a trophy of American flags, with the president's flag conspicuous in the midst, the central feature a gold ball with the national eagle proudly perched above.

Presidential Party in Grand March.

The president and his party, after entering the box, were there but a short time when they descended the broad flight of stairs and took part in the grand march, which was extended this time to the entire circuit of the hall, in place of the short detour made by Mr. Roosevelt's party four years ago. A long line of escorts, the gentlemen of the floor committee, lined the court and making an aisle through which the president and Mrs. Taft, the vice president and Mrs. Sherman, the secretary of state and Mrs. Knox and the others of the cabinet passed, the black coats of the living boundary making an excellent foil for the effective costumes of the women.

Novel Stand for Musicians.

At the end of the court opposite the president's box was the musicians' stand. This stand, which occupied a space of forty feet, was in the shape of an ampitheater and held 125 men of the orchestra under the direction of Mr. Sol Minster, and seventy-five men of the Marine band under the leadership of Lieut. Santelmann. The seats rose in tiers above one another, the whole towering up towards the vaulted canopy to a height of forty feet or more, tropical plants and flowers framing the decorative vistas. Between the back of the stand and the railing of the second gallery was a series of metallic panels, which served as sounding boards. These were gilded and over them were trailed vines in festoons and garlands. Over this as at the apex of the president's box, was a high trophy of American flags. The front of the musicians' stand was finished with a golden network and trailing over this lattice were clusters of Bougainville, giving a light and transparent effect of rose, purple and gold.

The red coated men of the Marine band were stationed at the top of the platform against the background of gold. Ranging below them were the men of the orchestra, the black coats of their evening dress throwing into relief the brilliant uniforms of the Marine band.

New Twostep Dedicated to Taft.

The two groups of musicians furnished continuous music, the band and the orchestra alternating in selections. The program included the new twostep, "The Man of the Hour," which was written by Aronson one hour after Mr. Taft was nominated at the Chicago convention and dedicated to the new president.

Surrounding the court, on both the first and second floors, were reception and dressing rooms, prettily decorated and made comfortable for the guests.

In one of the larger rooms on the main floor an elaborate supper was served.

While every man connected with the arrangements for the ball did his utmost to make the entertainment a success, so every woman did her part by donning her best and looking her prettiest. Of course, the cynosure of all eyes was the new "first lady of the land" and her drawing room cabinet of women, wives of her husband's cabinet officers. As they took their seats in the presidential box there was a flutter of excitement and a stampede to that end of the building followed, which continued as President and Mrs. Taft and their cortege passed down the stairs of the box and through the hall. Eager faces peered over the phalanx of officers of the floor committee, who formed a veritable body guard, as the crowd surged and pushed in its eagerness to get a glimpse of the president, and especially the ladies of his company, and their beautiful toilets.

IN THE CITY'S CHURCHES

MISSIONARY MEETING WAS A GREAT SUCCESS

Splendid Function at Home of Rev. Dr. and Mrs. C. U. Wade—Many Attend.

The largest church society meeting of the week was held on Thursday evening at the home of Rev. Dr. and Mrs. C. U. Wade, 1333 West Jefferson street. It was the regular monthly meeting of the Woman's Foreign Missionary society of Wayne Street Methodist Episcopal church. The annual thank offering celebration being held in connection with the meeting made it doubly interesting. The evening's address was delivered by Miss Mary E. Melton, of Nagasaki, Japan, who is engaged in Methodist Episcopal missionary work in the Orient. Her auditors numbered upwards of one hundred and fifty and her talk delivered in an easy, fluent manner, was intensely enjoyed by all. Miss Melton while in the mission field is supported by the M. E. churches of the Fort Wayne district, of which she is making a tour at the present time. She has been engaged in foreign missionary work for about ten years. Her first term at Nagasaki was of five years' duration, after which she returned to the United States on a furlough to visit her relatives, who reside in Jacksonville, Ill. The second term numbered two and one half or three years when on account of ill health she was obliged to give up the foreign work at least for a time. Since then she has devoted a portion of the past two years to work in the United States and expects to return to Nagasaki next September. There is a very large mission school there, besides hospitals and other institutions supported by Methodist Episcopal churches. At the mission school Miss Melton is engaged as a bible teacher among native women who are being prepared to teach their own people.

Her talk last evening was mainly descriptive of missionary activities in Japan and the opportunities afforded for even greater work. The annual thank offering was made at the meeting and about $40 was realized. Mrs. Charles A. Rowand led the devotional which opened the meeting. Miss Melton's address followed, after which vocal selections were rendered by the quartet from Wayne Street Methodist Episcopal church. The vocalists were Misses Mabel Racine and Mabel Bechtol, Mr. Swartz and Mr. Kohlmeier. Selections were also rendered by Miss Melton and Misses Lillian and Gertrude Schrader. The guests were received by the Misses Mary and Josephine Wade, who were attired in Japanese costume. An elaborate luncheon was served at the close of the meeting. Assisting hostesses were Mesdames, Parfitt, Coppock, Zart, Parrish, DeHaven, Harter, Galagher and the Misses Lillian and Gertrude Schrader.

WAITING FOR YOU.

The world is waiting for somebody,
Waiting and watching today,
Somebody to lift up and strengthen,
Somebody to shield and stay.
Do you thoughtlessly question, "Who?"
'Tis you, my friend, 'tis you!

The world is waiting for somebody,
Somebody brave and strong,
With a helping hand and a generous heart,
With a gift of deed and song.
Do you doubtless question, "Who?"
'Tis you, my friend, 'tis you!

The world is waiting for somebody,
The sad world, bleak and cold.
Where wan-faced children are watching
For hope in the eyes of the old.
Do you wondering question "Who?"
'Tis you, my friend, 'tis you!

The world is waiting for somebody,
As has been, years on years,
Somebody to soften its sorrow,
Somebody to heed its tears.
Then, doubting, question no longer
"Who?"
For, oh, my friend, 'tis you!

The world is waiting for somebody,
A deed of love to do,
Then up and hasten, everybody,
For everybody is you!
For everybody is you, my friend,
For everybody is you.

Board of Public Works Did Not Act on Improvement Petitions.

The board of public works did not act on the improvement petitions presented last night and took under advisement those for paving Miner street, Heustis avenue, Force street and Nelson street from Jefferson to Berry. Tarbia macadam was specified for Nelson street. The paving of the alley between Main and Berry from Webster to Ewing was also held up.

Plans were ordered for sidewalks on Clinton street between Superior and Dock and a postponement was granted in the matter of vacating St. Joe road. Plans were ordered for cement walks on Hartnett avenue from Broadway to St. Mary's river.

General Manager C. D. Emmons notified the board that the Fort Wayne and Wabash Valley Traction company will agree to the rule for removing meters from residence and business houses within five days.

WASHINGTON AGLOW WITH MYRIAD LIGHTS

Inaugural Illuminations a Feature That Was Worth Admission Price.

Washington, D. C. March 5.—Never before have fireworks and illumination had such a setting as in Washington last night. Every building, tree, or electric light pole wore a coat of glistening ice, that caught each beam of light and turned it to prismatic colors. Even the low hanging clouds caught the light and held it as though the heavens were afire, while the pavements, wet with sleet and slush and rain, served as a huge reflector.

Pennsylvania avenue was ablaze with light. The committee having in charge the illuminations and the merchants occupying business houses along its length vied with each other in producing the most brilliant display.

Glorious End to Outdoor Display.

On monument lot, in the rear of the white house, while the ball indoors was in progress, a grand display of fireworks marked the end of the day's outdoor celebration. The heavens were alight with screaming rockets, fiery cobras, the creations of modern pyrotechnic skill. The clouds and moisture that had done so much to mar the festivities of the day served to increase the brilliance of the pyrotechnical display. The huge sun clusters that hung in the air gained added effulgence from the reflection of the clouds.

Aerial salutes, floating festoons, illuminated balloons, and scores of other features made the display visible from one end of the city to the other. The devastations of the storm, the broken trees, and hanging wires was plainly seen by this unusual light.

Festoons Reflected in Ice.

One of the features of the illumination was the stretching across the 109 feet of roadway of a large number of electric festoons. They were placed a hundred and fifty feet apart and extended from the Peace monument at the foot of the capitol grounds to the treasury building and thence to New York avenue, a distance of about a mile and a quarter.

The effect was wonderful. Peace monument itself glistened from the effects of its bath of sleet and rain and the blown spray from its own fountain. For the first time since its erection, soon after the close of the civil war, it is being put to the use for which it originally was intended—that of a fountain. Connections with the water service were made, and last night the great volume of water thrown into the air was the focus of powerful searchlights in many colors, producing a wonderfully beautiful spectacle.

The rays of light, caught by the water and the glistening fountain, formed an immense arc of rainbow colors.

The cornice and beams of the treasury building were outlined in the incandescent lamps, as was the post-office building, where are displayed in the arches of its tower several blue green mercury vapor lamps of great brilliancy.

Powerful searchlights were constantly playing on the majestic dome of the capitol and on the front of the new white marble municipal building. The private business blocks for their mile of length were, as a rule, festooned and outlined with electric lamps. The effect of the whole illumination was brilliant in the extreme, and has rarely, if ever, in the history of the city been excelled.

Huge Throng Enjoys It.

Approximately, a quarter of a million people braved the inclemency of the weather and stood ankle deep in the slush, gazing with wide-eyed wonder and delight at what, no doubt, was the best display of aerial fireworks ever seen at the national capital.

The program was a long one and contained many special and unique features of marvelous beauty and spectacular effect never heretofore seen in this country. The display began by the discharge of 101 aerial guns, the national salute, and was followed by the lighting of 250 prismatic fires, which changed color a number of times.

The illumination was superb and the effect of the changing tints on the towering marble shaft of the Washington monument was extremely beautiful. Then came the flight of 150 rocket bombs fired from several positions so as to blend their varied colors, and then in rapid succession the discharge of a battery of magnesium balloons, followed by a marvelous "sun cluster" and batteries of fiery cobras, and the burning of great quantities of ruby fire, which gave its red tint to every object within a radius of many squares.

Patriotic Song "by Bombs."

"The Star Spangled Banner" excited the admiration of the great throng of spectators. It was produced by the electrical discharge of many large bombs picturing the national shield in its true colors suspended among the clouds. One of the great features of the display was the wonderful "Pillar of Light," rising a hundred feet into the air, arranged in five tiers and lighting up the whole southern section of the city. Then came batteries of lightning candles emitting blinding flashes closely resembling real lightning, and followed by peals of thunder.

With the overhanging clouds, the glistening monument and buildings and moist pavements, the effect was truly that of a real storm.

Another new feature was the crescendo repeating bombs. The first shell fired broke with on explosion, the second with two, and so on up to the twenty-first with twenty-one explosions. An amusing features of this display was the calling out in unison by the great crowds of the number of explosions as they occurred.

Nearly the last and the greatest sensation of the whole exhibition was a set piece, "The Battle in the Sky," showing a city with its spires and lofty buildings, some of them 100 feet high, and filling a space on the ground 500 feet long. An airship is seen passing over it, followed by others. These turn and are met by an opposing aerial fleet, when a battle ensues. One airship after another is set on fire and falls.

In the meantime other airships floated over the city dropping fiery bombs, wrecking the buildings, which crumbled and fell until all were utterly destroyed. The action or the encounter of the aeroplanes and the destruction of the city were marvelously realistic.

EVANGELIST SUNDAY TALKS ABOUT THE LIQUOR TRAFFIC

[Extract from a Sermon Delivered at Los Angeles, Cal.]

Rev. "Billy" Sunday, evangelist, assailed the liquor traffic from all sides in his address yesterday afternoon in Shrine auditorium, 655 West Jefferson street.

An audience that packed the big auditorium gathered to hear the evangelist, and many times the speaker's ringing denunciation of the inebriate, the saloonkeeper and the man who allows liquor establishments to occupy space in his building evoked prolonged applause and cheering from his auditors.

"I am the sworn, uncompromising enemy of the liquor business," he said to the 5,000 people gathered to hear him. "I am not against the dealers, but against their business. I ask no quarter and I give none. About twenty years ago I unsheathed my sword, and it will never be sheathed again till the undertaker squirts the embalming fluid through what is left of me. Then I want my wife to take my hide, have it tanned and made into a big bass drum. Then I want her to go about beating that drum and declaring: 'My husband still lives. He hasn't quit fighting the liquor traffic.'

"I challenge any man to show one bit of benefit that has accrued from the liquor business. Whisky is all right in its place, but its place is in hell, just as quickly as you can get it there. I defy any man to show me a community where they have saloons where the rate of taxation is lighter than in a 'dry' town. There is just one prime reason why the saloons have not been knocked into hell and that is the false statement that they are needed to help lighten the taxes. The saloon business has never paid. It has cost fifty times more for the saloon than for the revenue derived from it.

"In New York city, at Five Points, there is a spot that was as near like hell as any spot on earth. There are five streets that run to this point and right in the middle was an old brewery and all about the streets were lined with grogshops. Then came a wave of reform, and before they got through with it they had to buy that brewery. Now it is a decent, respectable place.

"The saloon is an outlaw. There is no law of God or man that the saloon business respects or cares the snap of your finger for. The saloon is the sum of all villainies. It is worse than war or pestilence. It is the crime of crimes. It is the parent of crimes and the mother of sins. It is the appalling source of misery and crime in the land. It takes a great part of the taxes to pay for the harm done.

REV. WILLIAM ASHLEY SUNDAY.

"To license such an incarnate fiend of hell is the dirtiest, low down, damnable business on earth. There is nothing to be compared with it.

"The city of Rochester, N. Y., has 600 saloons. Last year there was in that city four times as much drunkenness and crime as in the whole state of Maine. More of the workingmen own their homes in Maine than in any other state in the union.

"You hear a great cry up an down the land about personal liberty. Has liberty fallen so low that you have to go into the hell hole of a saloon to hear its name spoken? I tell you there is a vast difference between personal liberty and civil liberty. Personal liberty is not for the broken-hearted wife, or innocent children, or the sober, industrious citizen who has to pay the taxes. Personal liberty is for the fellow who has 10 cents and can walk up to a bar and slam it down for booze. Personal liberty murdered Abraham Lincoln. Civil liberty shot J. Wilkes Booth.

"But you say that if we do not have saloons in the towns we will lose the trade of the farmers. You're a stinking liar. Ninety-six per cent of the farmers are against the drink traffic. There is no class of men who will give the grogshop-keepers cold feet like the old-fashioned Rube.

"In some insane asylums when a new inmate is admitted, he is set to scrubbing a floor on which is running a stream of water from an open faucet. If the man turns off the water before mopping the floor, then he is put in a higher class of patients. If he does not turn the faucet off before mopping, they decide that he is 'bughouse' and classify him accordingly. We have in this country been trying for a hundred years to mop the floor. We have tried it with the Y. M. C. A., the Y. W. C. A. and other organizations, but now is the time to turn the faucet.

"The grogshop has no faith in God. It would close every church, both Catholic and Protestant, in this land. It wraps a mantle of crape about every hope in this world and in the world to come. But I've just got as much respect for the saloonkeeper as for the old lobster who rents his building for such vile purposes.

"I wouldn't sit in the legislature with a saloon collar about my neck locked with a brewery padlock and the devil carrying the key.

"On the first day of January 500,000 of the young men of the country went into the grogshops and began their public careers as drunkards. All right, let that damnable hell-soaked thing known as the saloon grind and spit and chew. On the 31st of December I will say:

" 'Hey! Mr. Whisky Gang! the American sovereign people gave you last January 500,000 of our young men. I come as a representative of the mothers and the churches and the schools. Give me back my boys.'

"What have you got? One hundred and sixty-five thousand puking, vomiting drunkards. I say, 'March them out. Let me count them.' And they come out.

" 'You are 110,000 short. Where are they?'

"One hundred and ten thousand men die drunkards every year—twelve per hour, 300 per day. One man will throw his hands to his head and his life will go out like a burnt match. Another will cry, 'Mother!' and stagger into hell. Another will leap in front of a train; another will jump from a bridge; another will turn a pistol on himself; still another will stab his own heart with a dagger, and the body will lie in the snow, and in the spring the buzzards will find it.

"On goes the damnable trail of infamy and iniquity!"

AN IDEAL COUGH MEDICINE.

"As an ideal cough medicine I regard Chamberlain's Cough Remedy in a class by itself," says Dr. R. A. Wiltshire, of Gwynneville, Ind. "I take great pleasure in testifying to the results of Chamberlain's Cough Medicine. In fact, I know of no other preparation that meets so fully the expectations of the most exacting in cases of croup and coughs of children. As it contains no opium, chloroform or morphine it certainly makes a most safe, pleasant and efficacious remedy for the ills it is intended." For sale by all druggists.

Electric trucks have superseded the old horse trucks on the Brooklyn water front. The old three-wheeled horse trucks proved at best a slow method of transportation and the shod feet of the horses rapidly wore out the planking of the piers, making the item for repairs a heavy one. The new trucks carry three times as much as the old ones.

STIFF NECK.

Stiff neck is caused by rheumatism of the muscles of the neck. It is usually confined to one side, or to the back of the neck and one side. While is is often quite painful, quick relief may be had by applying Chamberlain's Liniment. Not one case of rheumatism in ten requires internal treatment. When there is no fever and no swelling as in muscular and chronic rheumatism, Chamberlain's Liniment will accomplish more than any internal treatment. For sale by all druggists.

London now has its Lambs' club, which has just been opened in Jermyn street. It is not on quite the same plan as the similar society in New York. It is a men and women's club, largely devoted to bridge, and all the gambols are likely to be gambles. The rooms are attractive and the cooking excellent.

THE SHOP AND RAILROAD NEWS

E. E. GRIEST AND A. S. COURTNEY RECEIVE PROMOTION

Former Assistant Master Mechanic and Latter Assistant Foreman.

The announcement of a successor to Randolph Breese, assistant master mechanic of the Pennsylvania, was made this morning. It falls upon Euclid E. Griest and it becomes effective as soon as Mr. Breese enters upon a three months' leave of absence and starts for the Pacific coast in the interest of his health, which will be in a few days.

Mr. Griest will be succeeded as assistant general foreman of the machine shop by Allen S. Courtney, now a gang foreman in the Wellsville shops of the Pennsylvania, but formerly of this city.

A part of this announcement came as a surprise to the "knowing ones," who had fixed up an entirely different slate, but as the men affected are popular, there can be but one sentiment and that is approval.

Mr. Griest came here from the southwest system February 1, 1908, to take the position from which he is now to retire. He commenced work with the Pennsylvania in the capacity of clerk in the auditing department at Cambridge, Ohio, June 1, 1899. Thence he was transferred to the mechanical department February 5, 1900, and until he completed an apprenticeship he was employed in the company's shops at Columbus. A year ago he was transferred to Fort Wayne, where he has "made good" in a somewhat difficult position and his promotion follows. Mr. Griest graduated from Purdue university prior to taking employment with the Pennsylvania.

Mr. Courtney, the new assistant machine shop foreman, graduated from the Massachusetts Institute of Technonolgy, Boston, in the summer of 1904, and came directly to Fort Wayne and entered upon a special apprenticeship with the Pennsylvania company July 28, 1904. Three years later, July 22, 1907, he was appointed assistant night round house foreman, which position he satisfactorily filled until October 1, 1908, when he was transferred to Wellsville to take a gang foremanship in the company's machine shop. Mr. Courtney made many friends in Fort Wayne and became attached to the city during his residence here and his return is pleasing to both himself and acquaintances. He will probably arrive here tomorrow night.

GRIEVANCE COMMITTEE.

Wabash Trainmen's Representatives Meet Officials.

The annual meeting of the grievance committee of the trainmen in the employ of the Wabash, with the transportation officials, will be held in St. Louis next week. This part of the system will be represented by R. E. McNally, yard conductor, who, with his wife, will leave for St. Louis next Sunday. There are thirteen members of the committee and it is believed all will be in attendance at the meetings. There is nothing of great importance to consider. Mr. and Mrs. McNally will go from St. Louis to several places in Kansas to visit relatives and may not return to the city for two or three weeks.

PREPARING FOR BIG BUSINESS.

The Pennsylvania railroad officials entertain optimistic views of the business of the spring and summer and are employing extra men in the maintenance of way departments to put the little branch lines, chiefly those in the coal fields, in good shape. A number of the engineers who were laid off last fall have been reinstated and thousands of ties and many car loads of ballast are being collected for the proposed work. It is only a matter of a few weeks, the railway officials believe, until the railways of this country will have more business than they can handle.

SHAFTING FELL.

A fifteen foot section of the main shaft at the Fort Wayne Foundry and Machine works fell with a crash yesterday morning, smashing all the machinery beneath it and entailing a considerable loss to the company. None of the employes were injured, though several of them were in that part of the factory at the time of the accident. The works were engaged on a "rush" order and the delay caused by the breaking of the shafting means quite a loss.

B. R. T. TONIGHT.

Fort Wayne lodge, No. 136, Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen, will hold its regular meeting in the hall this evening and will consider some important business. The final settlement for the late annual ball will be made tonight, when definite information as to the receipts and expenditures will be gained. The ball was a brilliant success in a financial way, as well as otherwise, and the treasury has been enriched to the amount of several hundred dollars.

SOME PAY DAYS TODAY.

Several hundred thousand dollars were put in circulation in Fort Wayne today by a half-dozen or so of the big labor employing establishments. This was pay day at the Electric works, at S. F. Bowser's, at Rhinesmith & Simonson's, at Kerr Murray's and several other places.

RETURNING FROM INAUGURAL.

A special train carrying the Behan party from Washington to Chicago, after they had participated in the inaugural exercises, will pass through this city early Sunday morning. This train is one of the finest appointed specials ever sent across the state of Indiana.

INDUSTRIAL NOTES.

Nickel Plate Brakeman Arthur Timmis is sick and off duty.

Tinner C. F. Hamburger is absent from the Bowser works on account of sickness.

Brakeman J. D. Cain attended the funeral of a friend at Latty yesterday. Mr. Cain is a Nickel Plate brakeman.

J. M. Bryan and T. J. Watt, local freight brakemen on the Nickel Plate, are taking a lay off after a long seige of work.

A. Auer, a crane operator at the Pennsylvania shops, is sick and his place is being temporarily filled by G. VanBuskirk.

J. F. Nickel, a G. R. & I. passenger engineer, has gone to Lima, Ohio, to spend a few days with friends and relatives.

Harry Frost, Wabash yard clerk, contemplates a two or three weeks' visit in the west and will leave March 14 for Montana.

Nickel Plate Conductor A. P. Garland is sick and Conductor Charles Compton is laying off to look after some private business.

Charles Thompson, a sawmill operator at Evansville, is here to spend a few days with his family, who reside on Baker street.

Mrs. C. W. Larimore, wife of the Pennsylvania engineer, is with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. More, in Whitley county, who are dangerously ill.

W. E. Duglay has returned from a two weeks' visit in Arkansas and will resume work in the electrical department of the Pennsylvania in a day or two.

E. W. Zimmerman, a machinist in the Pennsylvania erecting shop, was called home this morning by news that his baby had been taken suddenly and seriously ill.

Brakeman A. O. Morehead reported for duty on the Nickel Plate yesterday. He had been visiting his wife in McComb. Mrs. Morehead will soon come here to reside.

Jack Urschell, a machinist at the Wabash shops, had the misfortune to bruise one of his hands by a misdirected blow with a hammer yesterday and is off duty as a result.

Pennsylvania Engineer C. C. Craig and his wife are making a tour of the eastern cities in quest of pleasure. They attended the inaugural ceremonies yesterday.

Mrs. Henry Jones is quite sick at the family home, 315 East DeWald street. Mr. Jones is a retired locomotive engineer who was employed over fifty years by the Pennsylvania.

Machinist Herman Regel and Henry Stahlhut left last night for Waterbury, Conn., to set up a large main engine wheel in a factory. The wheel is twenty feet in diameter and weighs many tons.

Nickel Plate Fireman Fred Seymour is taking a lay off to look after private affairs and Fireman Joseph Bright, who has been visiting at Tippecanoe, has returned to the city and reported for duty.

George Baker, a clerk at the Wabash freight office, is off duty on account of sickness. Apprentice J. Leihig, of the machine shop is off duty on account of the death of his grandmother.

G. W. Shirey, of the Pennsylvania machine shop, is off duty on account of the illness of his wife and Philip France, Herman Limbach and A. J. Schirmeyer are off duty on account of sickness.

Mrs. T. E. Short, wife of the well known Nickel Plate engineer, has been called to Muncie by a message which stated that her father, S. E. Banks, was seriously ill. Mr. Banks is known to all of the older residents of Fort Wayne.

The little son of John Baade, of the Pennsylvania, has been brought home from Chicago, where he was in the hands of a specialist for treatment, which was partly successful in its results. The little patient is five years old.

First grand chief of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, William B. Prenter, of Cleveland, is touring the railway centers of Indiana this week. He was at Peru last night and is in Tipton today. Peru division of the B. L. E. gave a reception last night in honor of Mr. Prenter.

Nickel Plate Brakeman H. A. Banks has returned to his duties on the road after laying off to entertain some of his folks who came here to visit him. Brakemen F. L. Shipley and A. W. Seeley also reported for duty yesterday. They had been sick.

The story of friction between the steel car manufacturers and the railway managers is denied. There is a difference concerning the price of cars, but this condition always existed and it is no more prominent today than a year ago.

Spencer H. Center, foreman of the boiler department at the Pennsylvania round house, severely sprained his back yesterday, while making his exit from a firebox which he had entered to inspect the boiler. He was unable to get down to the round house today.

Alex C. Brons and family left yesterday for Wenatchee Valley, Ore., to make their home on a ten acre fruit farm, purchased several years ago by Mr. Brons. He was a foreman of one of the departments of the Packard works for some time.

Louis Seibt, foreman of the Fort Wayne Foundry and Machine works, is making a business trip through Michigan. He will take measurements and make estimates of the cost of several power plants the company has been asked to equip and will be gone several days.

Brakeman A. A. Brandon, who recently reported for work on the Nickel Plate after spending several days with his wife, who is sick at the family home in Michigan, was again summoned there yesterday by a message stating that Mrs. Brandon had suffered a relapse and was quite ill.

The Nimrods of the city are commencing to get busy and are bringing in a great many ducks. Yesterday several of the Nickel Plate engineers went to the marshes for a couple days' shooting. H. Wash Frase went to James lake and Joseph Harber, John Hood and J. B. Mauer went to the Kankakee.

Gus W. Schmetzer, of Chicago, representing the Triple Thread Auto Tire Manufacturing company, is in the city in the interest of the company and shaking ands with old friends. Mr. Schmetzer is a machinist and electrician, and for a number of years was employed at the Fort Wayne Electric works.

C. S. Robertson and W. A. Arney resumed their places in the Pennsylvania machine shop this morning, after an absence of several days. Mr. Arney had his back sprained a week ago and Mr. Robertson had his foot hurt a week ago. Machinist John G. Bryant, who was sick a week, also returned to work this morning.

General Counsel John H. Clarke, of the Nickel Plate, was operated upon in a hospital in Cleveland last Wednesday for gallstones, the operation being successful. Mr. Clarke is quite prominent in legal circles in Ohio and is also interested and well known in Railroad Y. M. C. A. work. He has made many addresses in the latter cause.

The Baltimore and Ohio's Pittsburg-Wheeling line is receiving considerable attention from the engineering department at present. Additional tracks are to be put in and other improvements outlined before the financial depression of 1907 are to be carried forward. This improvement is made necessary by the ever increasing traffic between Pittsburg and points in West Virginia.

The receivers of the Wabash-Pittsburg Terminal have been authorized to expend $500,000 in the purchase of 500 steel hopper bottom cars of 100,000 pounds capacity. The cars are needed to handle the coal tonnage originating in the Pittsburg district. H. W. McMasters and F. H. Skelding are the receivers and in the future the affairs of the two receivers will be administered as a unit instead of separately, as heretofore, making only one report necessary.

THREE INTERESTING LECTURES.

Secretary Burns Announces Program at Y. M. C. A.

Three lectures of unusual interest at the Railroad Y. M. C. A. during the next fe wdays are on "Social Problems," at the auditorium at 3 o'clock Sunday afternoon by Rev. A. K. Zartman, of the Grace Reformed church, illustrated by stereopticon views; "Valve Motion" by Motive Power Inspector Fred Huston on Tuesday night, and "Air Brakes and How to Operate and Care for Them," by Capt. H. M. Diel on Friday evening. The lecture Sunday afternoon is open to the public and women are specially invited. The other lectures are designed more particularly for men engaged in railway work, though they will be of interest to other classes and all are welcome.

Visit the Patternson-Fletcher Co. store tomorrow and see the new spring overcoats, suits, hats, ties and shirts.

Miss Edith Morey will return to her home in Van Wert this evening after spending a few days here on business.

Portland, Maine, Child

Ill, Weak and Emaciated, Restored to Health by Vinol.

"Our little daughter, six years of age, after a severe attack of the measles, which developed into pneumonia, was left pitifully thin, weak and emaciated. She had no appetite, and her stomach was so weak it could not retain food. She lay in this condition for weeks, and nothing the doctor prescribed did a bit of good, and we were beginning to think she would never recover.

"At this time we commenced to give her Vinol, and the effect was marvelous. The doctor was amazed at her progress, and when we told him we were giving her Vinol, he replied, 'It is a fine remedy, keep it up.' We did so, and she recovered her health and strength months before the doctor thought she could." J. W. Flagg, Portland, Me.

Vinol cures conditions like this because in a natural manner it increases the appetite, tones up the digestive organs, makes rich, red blood, and strengthens every organ in the body.

Vinol is sold in Fort Wayne by Meyer Bros. Co., Druggists, Three Big Stores.

"I'M asking this crowd," began Judge Hoke as his court at Sandy Bend was opened in due ancient form and the dogs turned out in the snow—"I'm asking who was at the elbow of the first white man to pepetrate into this glorious west?

"It was a white woman.

"I'm asking who left the palaces of richness in the east to endure the hardships and discomforts of pioneer life on prairie and hillside?

"It was the white women.

"I'm asking who starved and hungered, who helped to clear the wilderness and plow the valleys, who cheered and encouraged her partner, who got eat up by b'ars and scalped by injuns and made the land to blossom like a rose at last?

"It was the white woman, God bless her!

"She's been with us right along in this great work of building up an empire, and she's still on deck and doing her level best. If it hadn't been for her cheering presence and her hopeful speerit the injun and the grizzly b'ar would still be playing tag over every acre of land west of the Big river. We owe her a debt that we can never pay, and the critter that goes back on a woman within the jurisdiction of this court has got a powerful hard road to travel. This court hain't the chevalier of old. He's simply got a manly bosom and a manly heart thumping away inside of it. He hain't a married man, but his mother was a woman, and he's learned to respect the sex.

"Over thar sits Red Headed Sal, and over here sits One Eyed Jim. No use to introduce them further. Everybody in Sandy Bend knows that Sal keeps a boarding house and that Jim loafs around for a living. Three months ago Jim goes to board with Sal. He pays up the first month, but after that he draggles along and makes excuses, and the other day, when she wants him to squar' up, he owes her $70 and can't pay. In lieu of cash he sots out to entangle her affections. He seeks her hand and heart. He calls her an earthly angel and says he can't live without her, when all the time he has two or three wives back in Illinoy.

Red Headed Sal No Fool.

"Red Headed Sal is no pullet. She's had fifty different men want to die for her to squar' a board bill. She listens with a smile on her face, as any lady would, and her heart tunks a leetle faster as Jim gits down on his knees and swears to fill her path with roses, but she don't melt to him. She simply hears him to the end and then holds out her delikit hand for them 70 plunks. Jim don't have 70 cents, and in a wild frenzy he rushes back to his room to commit suicide. Sal don't rush arter him. She knows a trick worth two of that. She picks up a gun and posts herself under his winder, and when he lets hisself down, an hour later, calkerlating to bilk the house and flee afar, she lets loose and wounds him on the leg.

"Does Jim throw up his hands and do the manly thing when caught with the goods? Not a manly! He begins squealing. He sends for me and wants jestice. He claims it was an attempt to assassinate him, and I have to issue a warrant. Sal is here a prisoner, and Jim is here to prosecute. Thar won't be any prosecution, however. All the gabbing will be done by the court, and not much will be said. I have found out all the facts in the case, and all of Jim's swearing wouldn't make any difference. The facts stand out bigger'n a bill that—

"Red Headed Sal is a woman—a lady driven by stress of sarcumstances to run a boarding house.

"One Eyed Jim owes her $70 for board and drinks.

"He seeks to awaken the god of love in her heart to squar' the debt.

"The god knows his biz.

"He is halfway down from a second story winder when a bullet chips his leg.

"He hollers for me and jestice, and we arrive on the spot.

"Them's all the p'ints, and I don't want any burting in from shyster lawyers. Jestice will be did though the heavings fail.

"Sal, you can depart in peace and resume the occupation of conducting a boarding house and selling drinks that cheer. Mebbe you shot too quick, and mebbe you orter to taken some other way to collect that debt, but you are a female, and the great west stands by you. It would deserve to be kicked if it didn't.

"Jim, you hain't no case. All you've got is a hole in the left leg and the contempt of all good men. Limp out of this courtroom and change your climate. This town of Sandy Bend won't have no further use for you.

"And now, feller citizens, for case No. 2, which is that of Big Jane versus Tall Pete. Big Jane is another female that has put in several years in helping to make the land blossom and driving out the heathen. Long, long ago she learned the game of poker that she might help the critters of the other sex to amuse and interest themselves. She has no guile in her heart, or jest 'nuff to enable her to know that three aces are better than three jacks in a poker hand. According to the rules of society, she may not be the properest lady in the territory, but we must take the proper with the improper and make the best of it. The Lord made her a female, and that's 'nuff for us.

Tall Pete's Case.

"Over thar sots Tall Pete. He's hung around this town for a year or so, and the most we knows about him is that he's slick and sly and sleek. The other day he goes to Jane and wants her to elope with him. He wants her to go with him over to Wolf Hill and be his angel forevermore. He vows and promises and gits down on his knees. He's going to do this, and he's going to do that, and her future life is to be one long dream of happiness.

"Big Jane don't lose her nerve. It strikes her that she has heard something like that afore—about a hundred times afore. She sighs, but she keeps cool. She blushes, but she stands firm on her feet. She thinks it over and finally decides to go, but she don't go with her eyes shet. If thar's any leetle game on Pete's part she's going to be right thar.

"Jim provides two hoss critters, and they sots off. They git into hills, and Jim pulls a gun and wants Jane to hand over her greenbacks and jewelry—reg'lar holdup, you see, and all planned in advance, but it don't work. Jane has a gun along, and out it comes, and a bullet grazes Pete's neck. That is 'nuff for him. He yells out that he is a dead man and turns and flees, and a few hours later he appears afore me and hollers for jestice. I have to issue a warrant, and Big Jane is arrested as she comes home singing a gospel hymn.

"That's the case, and all the case. A man critter lies to a female. He puts up a job to rob her—mebbe to commit murder. He is beaten at his own game by her nerve, and he comes hollering for jestice. He shall have it.

"Big Jane, you are discharged with laurel leaves adorning your marble brow. The wild and woolly west pats you on the back, and from this date onwards the American flag will be proud to enwrap your form in its sacred folds. I hain't prepared to say that the Four Hundred of New York will stand ready to take you to its bosom, but you can continue to reside here among us in an atmosphere of respect, and the critter that don't lift his hat to you will have to deal with this 'ere court.

"Tall Pete, I hain't no words to tell what I think of you. I wouldn't have believed thar was sich a skunk in the territory. Go hence. Git out. Vanish out of Sandy Bend for all time. Here in this courtroom the majesty of the law protects you, but once outside of it I hain't saying nor caring what may happen. Only in bestowing their kicks the boys should take into consideration the fact that you've been shot in the neck and can't appreciate things as might be the case some other day. That's all, and court is adjourned."

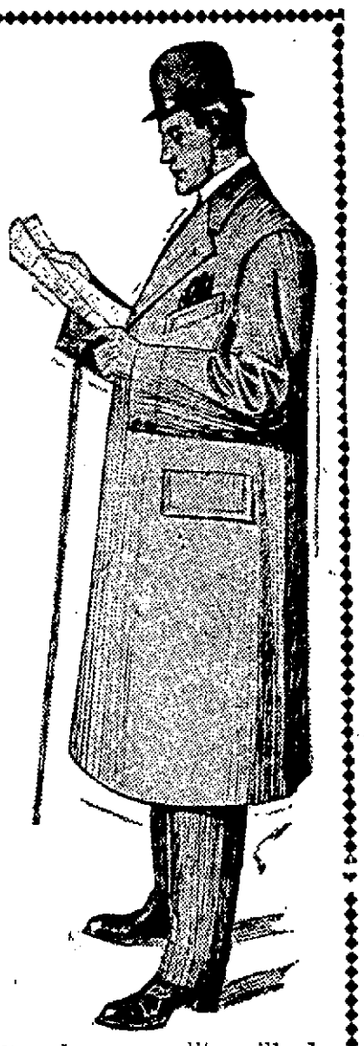
SPRING TOPCOATS



The Topcoat is strictly a Gentleman's garment.

The man who knows will now lay aside his heavy Winter Overcoat for a dapper lightweight Spring garment.

The good dresser is not a guesser; he knows.

Whatever style you prefer, it is here—the shorter box coat—the extreme long coat and the between-length, so much affected by staid Men.

Every good material used in the making of fashionable Spring Coats has been employed in the making of ours.

For men who prefer the Spring Overcoat in black with black silk linings and facing on lapels, we have some elegant garments.

Our prices are always as low as quality will admit—but we never allow a price to touch a point where quality ceases.

THE MARKETS

GRAIN AND PROVISIONS.

Chicago Market.

Chicago, Ill., March 5.—Wheat prices broke from ⅝c to 2⅛@2⅝c at the opening of the market today, owing to general selling pressure based mainly on a decline of ⅝d to 1d at Liverpool. May opened at $1.15⅝ to $1.17⅛ and July at $1.04⅜ to $1.05¼. Despite the sharp declines, however, offerings were not readily taken and the volume of business was not large. Shorts appeared less aggressive than heretofore. After the first five minutes of trading the market was steady for a time, with May selling around $1.16½ and July at $1.05.

The wheat market became extremely weak late in the session on general liquidation inspired by rumors that the leading bull had been a free seller through commission houses. The price of May dropped to $1.15, a loss of more than 3c, compared with yesterday's close, while July dropped to $1.03½, a break of more than 2c. The market closed weak at almost the bottom, final quotations on May being at $1.15⅝@1.15½, a net loss of 2⅞c. July closed at $1.03½@1.03⅝, a loss of 1⅞@2c.

The break in wheat caused moderate weakness in the corn market. Many of the small holders were active sellers, but there was no evidence of any selling by leading longs. Prices at the start were ⅛c lower to a shade higher, May opening at 68c to 68¼c. Early in the day May sold off to 67⅞c.

Additional weakness developed as a result of the fresh slump in wheat, May declining to 67⅜c and July to 66¾c. The close was weak with May off ⅝@¾c to ¾c at 67⅛c to 67⅜@67½c. July was ⅛c lower at 66¾@66⅞c.

Oats were weak on selling by commission houses and local longs brought out by the decline in wheat. May opened ⅛c to ¼@⅜c lower at 56½@56¾c to 56⅝c and sold off to 56⅛c.

Provisions were rather weak, because of declines in grain and live hogs. Trade was quiet. Prices at the opening were 2½c higher to 5c lower.

The Close.

Prices at the close were as follows:

Wheat—May, $1.15⅝@1.15½; July, $1.03⅛@1.03⅜; September, 97¾c; December, 98½c.

Purchases increased and the whole market moved briskly upward for a time. Union Pacific, Reading and American Ice rising 1 and Colorado Fuel 1¾. Selling commenced before 11 o'clock and the previous advances were converted into sharp losses in many cases.

Increasing firmness was shown although the inquiry continued light. Minneapolis, St. Paul & Sault Ste Marie improved 2½ points and Kansas City Southern 2½. Delaware & Hudson and Railway Steel Spring yielded 1.

The decline went somewhat further and was followed by some recovery and a lapse into extreme dullness. Minneapolis & St. Louis and International Pump fell 2½. Republic Steel 2, the preferred 1½, Denver & Rio Grande 1½, and Pennsylvania, Rock Island, Ontario & Western, Minneapolis, St. Paul & Sault Ste Marie 1. Bonds were heavy.

The recovery was checked soon after 12 o'clock, the market showing stagnation as soon as the speculative buying stopped. There was a steady absorption of the Kansas City Southern stocks, the common rising 1⅝ and the preferred 1. International Paper lost a point.

The market closed strong and rather dull. The Canadian group, including Wisconsin Central, were features. Minneapolis, St. Paul & Sault Ste Marie advanced 6 points, the preferred 2½, Duluth, South Shore & Atlantic preferred 2¼, the common, 1⅝. Wisconsin Central 1½ and Canadian Pacific 1. International Pump preferred declined 1¾. Prices elsewhere rose slightly, getting as high as in the first hour. New York Central's gain reached 1¾, Kansas City Southern 4, the preferred 2, Utah Copper 1¾ and Sloss-Sheffield Steel and Anaconda 1.

LOCAL MARKET EPITOME.

Local market receipts were light today with the egg market evidencing an easier tone and chickens going up. The price offered for poultry today went as high as 14c per pound. The butter demands were also good. Potatoes and onions are remaining the same.

Said G. H. Crouse, of the commission house of G. H. Crouse & Co., this morning: "Prospects are for good receipts tomorrow and there are no doubts as to the demands. The egg market may decline, but the demands are still fairly good. We look for no other changes."

Other local markets today were the same.

Five Architects Have Submitted Plans for New Redeemer Church.

Five architects have submittted plans for the new English Lutheran church of the Redeemer, which will be erected at the corner of West Washington and Fulton streets and at the regular monthly meeting of the congregation this evening it is likely that one set of the plans will be chosen. The five architects are Mahurin & Mahurin, Griffith & Fair, J. M. E. Riedel, J. S. King and H. Meyer. The new edifice is to cost in the neighborhood of $30,000, but it is not thought building operations will begin for several months.

CITY BREVITIES.

Judge S. M. Hench returned today from a ten days' trip in the south.

Mrs. H. W. Ropa, of 1111 Michigan avenue, is quite ill with tonsilitis.

J. M. Stouder has been given the contract for the hardware in the new Scottish Rite cathedral.

William Josse, the son of Sanitary Officer Charles Josse, is seriously ill at his home, suffering from rheumatism of the heart.

Committees to assist in preparing for the Memorial day exercises will be named at the meeting of the Lawton-Wayne post, G. A. R. this evening.

Attorney Lee Nindo will be the host for the Blackford Law club at his home this evening. An address will be made by Attorney Shambaugh followed by a dinner.

The A to Z club, which is composed of eight young men, was entertained last evening by Herman Kaade, of Sweeney avenue. In the games of 500 the A won by a good margin.

Sister M. Adelpha, whose death occurred at Carlisle, Ill., was a sister of Mrs. Leo Studer, of Liberty street, this city, and had many friends who held her in highest esteem. Prior to entering the sisterhood she was Miss Edith Jeretsky, of this city. The funeral services occurs at Carlisle Saturday morning.

A number of contracts for the repair and remodeling work on the Wayne hotel building have been let. A. Hattersley & Sons were given the steam and heating plant and tiling contracts; A. Rolf & Brother the plumbing; Edmunds Construction company the wiring, and the Home Telephone company the installing of the telephone service.

The term of enlistment of Leroy Dillon, the assistant at the local navy recruiting station, expires this month along with two other navy recruiting officers in the state and he says he expects to re-enlist in this city. Henry Marlin, in charge of the Terre Haute office, and Coxswain Culp, assistant at the Evansville office, are the others whose terms expire soon.

DEAFNESS CANNOT BE CURED by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

A STATEMENT OF FACTS BACKED BY A STRONG GUARANTEE.

We guarantee immediate relief and a positive cure to all sufferers from constipation. In every case where we fail to effect a cure, we will supply the medicine free. That's a frank statement of facts, and we want you to substantiate them at our risk.

Rexall Orderlies are a gentle, effective, dependable and safe bowel regulator, strengthener and tonic. They re-establish nature's functions in a quiet, easy way. They do not cause any inconvenience, griping or nausea. They are so pleasant to take and work so easily that they may be taken by anyone at any time. They thoroughly tone up the whole system to healthy activity. They have a most beneficial action upon the liver.

Rexall Orderlies are unsurpassable and ideal for the use of children, old folks and delicate persons. We cannot too highly recommend them to all sufferers from any form of constipation and its attendant evils. That's why we back our faith in them with our promise of money back if they do not give entire satisfaction. Two sizes, 25c and 10c. Meyer Bros. Co., Three Drug Stores.

PUTS SIGNATURE TO BILL.

School Bond Measure Meets Approval of Governor Marshall.

The bill passed by the legislature enabling Fort Wayne and South Bend to issue school bonds to the extent of two per cent of the taxable property in the city was signed yesterday afternoon by Governor Marshall. This is the measure introduced at the instance of the local city school board to relieve a situation caused by an error in a law enacted at the last general assembly which purposed to allow the issuance of $150,000 extra in bonds but which really limited the entire issuance to that amount.

WILL BE A GREAT TREAT.

Lecture by Rabbi Levy, of Pittsburg, Next Monday Evening.

Rabbi J. Levy, of Pittsburg, who delivers the next number in the Jewish temple series of lectures in Fort Wayne next Monday evening, is regarded as one of the very finest platform speakers in America. His theme will be "Marching On." The lecture is absolutely free and all are welcome to hear it. Rabbi Levy will reach Fort Wayne at 4:30 o'clock Monday afternoon.

'BUSCO HAS A BLAZE AND LOSS WILL BE $10,000

Postoffice and Business Concerns Were Entirely Wiped Out.

Churubusco, Ind., March 5.—Fire, believed to have been the result of a defective flue, wiped the Arcade building here out of existence Thursday night, entailing a loss estimated at $10,000 with but $4,000 of insurance.

The postoffice, E. W. Welch's jewelry store, Lee Yohn's barber shop, and the offices of Dr. Magers, Attorney E. W. Kichler and C. W. Slagle, township trustee, were all completely destroyed. The Arcade was a frame building, two stories in height and dry as tinder, and when the blaze was discovered at 10:45 o'clock it had gained such headway that it was impossible to remove anything from the building, and mail matter as well as other contents burned.

The building was owned by J. A. Pressler, who carried insurance to the amount of $1,500. Occupants carried a total insurance of $2,500. The postoffice has opened temporary quarters in the bank building, to the vault of which the postmaster had removed his cash and $700 worth of postage stamps when the office closed Thursday night.

Nervous Prostration

Don't Become a Burden to Your Friends. Don't Say "what's the Use," When They Urge You to Seek Help. There is "Use" and Reason Too. You Can be CURED.

There is a limit to human strength, brain and nerve force, and when we overstep the limit the result is Nervous Prostration. Both mind and body become worn out and the victim drifts into confirmed invalidism.

Whether the trouble is just beginning with simple weakness, nervousness, sleeplessness or has advanced to an acute stage of prostration, Wheeler's Nerve Vitalizer is preeminently the treatment that may be relied upon to restore the exhausted energies. It does this by giving back to the nerves what they have expended through years of overwork, dissipation and excesses of various kinds.

This rebuilding begins with the first dose and does not stop until perfect health and strength is restored. We do not appeal to your imagination, we can supply you with ample proof of these facts from those cured.

Wheeler's Nerve Vitalizer does not contain Alcohol, Chloral, Morphine or other harmful or habit forming drug, therefore may be taken with perfect safety.

I was stricken with nervous prostration and severe irritation of the spinal nerves so bad that I was confined to my bed—could neither eat nor sleep. It was necessary to inject food into my body to keep me alive.

The many physicians who treated me were unable to help, and finally gave me up to die. While in that condition and waiting for death, I was advised to try Wheeler's Nerve Vitalizer. I could feel the good effects of the third dose, and the first bottle helped me so much that my friends could hardly believe so much benefit could be derived from so little treatment. After using three bottles I was entirely cured, and was my healthy self again. Wheeler's Nerve Vitalizer certainly saved my life. I can recommend it to any one afflicted with any nervous trouble.
